U.S. Denies Japs On Aleutians

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States navy spokesman countered Axis claims of Japanese occupation of Aleutian Islands bases today with the categorical assertion "none of our inhabited areas, islands or rocks are troubled with uninvited visitors up to this time."

Asked for comment on Axis claims that army forces had destroyed positions on the Aleutian Islands, the spokesman said "we have no information about any Japanese on Alaskan soil."

(In a broadcast from Tokyo Wednesday night, Capt. Hideo Hiraide, chief of the naval press section of Imperial headquarters, claimed "Japanese forces had been able to occupy western Aleutian Islands because the enemy was unable to send strong reinforcements north on account of the strong Japanese attack at Midway."

Thursday morning, newspapers in Japan devoted big headlines to the Dutch Harbor-Midway actions.)

Canadian Warship Lands Survivors; Blast Sinks U.S. Ship Off Neah Bay

No Early Draft For Overseas Says Mr. King

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King, launching the conscription debate in the House of Commons this afternoon, said the government does not believe conscription for service overseas is necessary at the present time.

"Moreover, it may never become necessary," he said.

"But in case it should ever become necessary it is surely the part of wisdom that there should be no doubt whatever of the power of the government to take the necessary action the moment the necessity to do so may arise."

The Prime Minister moved second reading of Bill 80, which repeals Section 3 of the National Resources Mobilization Act and leaves the government free to conscript men for service in any theatre of war by proclamation.

The National Resources Mobilization Act, signed June 21, 1940, empowers the government to call on Canadians to place their services and their property at the disposal of the government for the defence of Canada and the efficient prosecution of the war.

But Section 3 limited the power of the government to compel military service only within Canada or on its territorial waters.

Thus, the Prime Minister said, power to conscript, subject to limitation as to theatre of action, has been in effect since June, 1940, with regard to property as well as manpower.

"That power, where it has been deemed necessary or expedient to do so, has been exercised ever since and is being exercised by the government today," he said.

Does Not Mean Change of Principle

"Adoption of the amendment clearly does not mean the adoption of any new principle with respect to the raising of men for military service."

Mr. King said the original act left it to the government to make use of the powers conferred on it as circumstances dictated.

"This will be equally true of the powers of governor-in-council under the act as amended," he said. "The discretion of the government will remain precisely what it is at the present time."

Mr. King said he wished to make it clear the act was "not mandatory but enabling" and that if amended as proposed "it will continue to be enabling legislation."

The Prime Minister referred to the plebiscite held April 27 when the great majority of Canadians voted to release the government from promises not to introduce unlimited conscription while the majority of Quebec voters opposed such release.

In the plebiscite campaign he had made it clear, Mr. King said, that an affirmative vote was "not a vote for conscription."

Not Committed By People's Vote

Result on the vote "did not commit the government for conscription overseas," he said, but "it equally leaves no doubt as to the freedom of the government and of Parliament to decide for or against conscription for service overseas either conditionally or unconditionally."

Since the act had been passed there had been many who said—and others who thought—that conscription did not exist in Canada.

"Extraordinary as it may seem, the persons who say or who would have others believe that we do not have conscription in Canada are not confined to citizens of other countries," Mr. King said.

"If we are to judge by what we hear, and what we read in the press from time to time, they include a very large number of our own citizens. They certainly are among the number who are loud in their utterances."

Deck Cleared For Discussion

The plebiscite was wholly an "expression of opinion." It cleared the deck for unrestricted discussion and debate, and if the amendment to the N.R.M.A. were adopted it would clear the deck for unrestricted decision and action by the government, subject only to its constitutional responsibility to Parliament.

The government still had to obtain a free hand from Parliament.

"To claim that what had been sought or obtained by the plebiscite was a mandate for conscription is to assert that the plebiscite was a mere subterfuge," Mr. King said.

"Such a claim goes farther than that: It is equivalent to saying that those who stated that the issue was not conscription, did not mean what they said; that they were deliberately seeking to deceive the electorate."

Such a claim did a particular injustice to members of the House who, knowing the importance of national unity at this time, had done their best to remove the prejudices which some others were doing their utmost to inflame.

In the endeavor to bring home to the people of their province the truth of Canada's position in the present war, and the need in the interests of national security as well as of national unity for an affirmative vote, none fought more valiantly than the majority of the House members from Quebec "including my former colleague, the then Minister of Public Works and of Transport" (Hon. P. J. A. Cardin), Mr. King said.

In mentioning the resignation of Mr. Cardin, Mr. King said he felt the reasons given by the minister evidenced a mistaken view of the government's purpose and intention, and he had sought to have Mr. Cardin reconsider his resignation.

Vessel Goes Down in 30 Minutes; Sinking Brings War Close to City

Naval authorities at Esquimalt announced today that 25 survivors from the U.S. vessel already reported sunk off the west coast were picked up by one of His Majesty's Canadian ships and have been safely landed at a west coast port.

(U.S. naval authorities had previously announced the landing of survivors and identified the west coast port at Port Angeles.)

By LELAND HANNUM

PORT ANGELES, Wash. (AP)—The first torpedoing of a U.S. merchant ship off the coast of the Pacific Northwest, officially announced by the navy Tuesday night, was revealed after the ship's master, Capt. Lyle G. Havens, 48, San Carlos, Calif., had brought his crew men here and said: "I'm glad to report we lost only one of the 60 aboard."

Lone fatality was 56-year-old Stephen Chance, negro second cook and baker, of no known address, who died of exposure in a lifeboat.

Two were in a serious condition and six others were less seriously hurt, he said, when the explosion occurred last Sunday afternoon. He said the ship sank 30 minutes later.

Survivors Landed Near Cape Flattery

A lifeboat carrying some of the survivors reached Neah Bay, near Cape Flattery on the northwestern tip of the Washington coast, Monday night. They told of other men on two life rafts, and planes and a naval vessel found those men early yesterday and also brought them into Neah Bay. All came here Tuesday from Neah Bay by bus.

The two most seriously injured men, Stephen Malone, fireman, of San Francisco, who was crushed in his bunk when the torpedo hit the ship about 50 feet from where he was sleeping, and Verr Wickert, oiler, of Sioux Falls, S.D., were taken to the marine hospital at Seattle.

Attendants said this forenoon both were "better," and their condition was not critical. Wickert was standing near an oil tank which burst, and he got oil in his lungs.

First officer E. W. Nystrom, Oakland, Calif., said he saw what some described as the submarine, and that "it might have been part of our ship's debris. I fired two parachute signal flares. The wreckage disappeared."

Capt. Havens said "there is no doubt we were torpedoed."

Both he and Nystrom were in their bunks when the ship was struck, and were thrown to the deck.

"The strange thing about the concussion, and it was a terrible one, was the 'silence' of it," Nystrom said. "There wasn't any 'boom'."

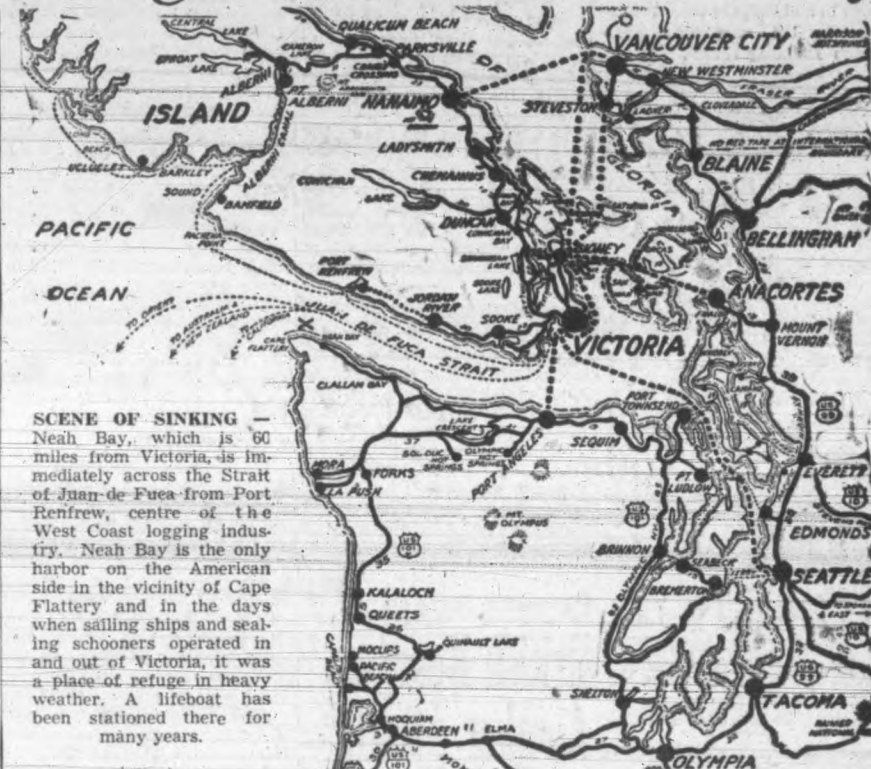

No One Got Wet Feet, But Trip 'Miserable'

"No one even got his feet wet getting away," he said, "but it was miserable after that—cold and rain and seas breaking over us all the time."

He said the attack was made about 2.20 p.m., Sunday, and the lifeboat started for shore at dawn Monday, after "hanging around the scene on the chance someone heard our SOS. It seems the explosion wrecked the wireless and no one could hear it."

The lifeboat, towed by a passing fishing boat, reached a haven Monday night and gave the position of the two lifeboats. Allied planes and a corvette found the lifeboats and survivors early about 6.30 a.m. Tuesday, and the warship brought them here after "splicing the main brace" with issues of hot rum.

"I'm going to take a three-weeks vacation," said Capt. Havens after he and his officers and crew had exchanged their sudden clothing for borrowed naval garb.

SCENE OF SINKING—Neah Bay, which is 60 miles from Victoria, is immediately across the Strait of Juan de Fuca from Port Renfrew, centre of the West Coast logging industry. Neah Bay is the only harbor on the American side in the vicinity of Cape Flattery and in the days when sailing ships and sealing schooners operated in and out of Victoria, it was a place of refuge in heavy weather. A lifeboat has been stationed there for many years.

He also took along nine drums of ammunition.

As the explosion-stunned crew waited in the lifeboat amid the wreckage, he told them:

"I hope I can get at least two Japs."

His father, Captain Fred Nystrom, who commanded the steamship H. F. Alexander many years in her runs up and down the coast out of Seattle, is a Japanese prisoner at Hongkong.

The torpedoed ship was outward bound from a Washington port with a cargo of newsprint rolls.

Washington Senator Discloses Location

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy announced officially Tuesday night that a United States merchant ship had been sunk by enemy submarine action off the Pacific coast.

Senator Bone, Democrat, Washington, said the freighter was sunk Sunday night off Neah Bay at the northern tip of the State of Washington.

It was the first enemy submarine action to be reported off the Pacific coast in recent months.

Senator Wallgren, Democrat, Washington, said in Los Angeles he had been informed by telephone that 50 survivors, many of them injured, were taken to Port Angeles, Wash.

Strengthens People's Resolve

Bone told of the sinking in a statement issued, he said, with the knowledge and approval of naval authorities. He did not identify the freighter or give any further details.

"A freighter was sunk off Neah Bay Sunday night by a submarine," the statement said. "It did not involve any of our naval units."

"It was just another one of many present tragedies of the sea. I hope it will serve to strengthen our determination to carry on and I know our people in the state will take it in stride."

Victoria Flier Ready For Flight Over Germany

For 10 months, Observer-Sgt. R. W. (Dick) Taylor, second from right above, has been flying in this big bomber over enemy territory. The crew was signing in for a night's flight when the picture was taken. He was in the show that destroyed the radio tower at Bruneval, France, and at St. Nazaire and Rostock. The small bomb markings on the front of the fuselage indicate the plane has been on 23 raids. Sgt. Taylor is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Taylor, 87 Cambridge Street. He has three brothers in the services overseas, Lt. George Taylor and Lt. Tom Taylor in an armored regiment and Grt. Bill Taylor.

COLOGNE RESTS IN—PIECES—BUT CATHEDRAL SPARED—Smashed and burned out in a raid of over 1,000 R.A.F. planes, Cologne, Germany, presented this picture of havoc when an R.A.F. cameraman flew over after waiting days for the fires to burn out so the smoke would not obscure his photograph. Cologne's famous cathedral, upper right, appears to have escaped all but superficial damage. Running diagonally across the picture just in front of the cathedral is the Hohestrasse—once the city's busiest street. Note arrow: It points to black squares, outlined by white lines. These lines are tops of building walls, and wherever you see these, it's a good indication that the buildings have been gutted.

Japs Admit Loss of Plane Carrier Acknowledge Cruiser Heavily Damaged

Associated Press
 Imperial Tokyo headquarters sought to minimize the gravity of the Japanese naval disaster at Midway today, but acknowledged United States forces had sunk an aircraft carrier, heavily damaged another carrier and damaged a cruiser.

Official United States reports have listed 16 and possibly 18 Japanese warships sunk or damaged before the enemy fleet limped off in retreat.

Moreover, an eyewitness account by Ensign George Gay, 25-year-old navy flier, declared three of Japan's aircraft carriers, including two of the 26,900-ton Kaga-Akagi class, were seen to burst into flames under attack by torpedo planes. Tokyo did not specify the class of the carrier it admitted lost.

In Washington, the navy withheld comment on the Japanese claim of two American aircraft carriers sunk around Midway Island and Dutch Harbor, Alaska, indicating Tokyo was attempting another "fishing expedition" in quest of information as to the disposal of U.S. fleet units.

TROOPS THERE TOO
 Tokyo headquarters today also reported that Japanese army troops were used in attacking the Aleutian Islands off Alaska on Sunday, Tokyo time (Saturday, Alaska time)—three days after the Dutch Harbor raids—and declared they "are continuing operations in this area."

No details were given as to whether it was a sizeable attempt at invasion of the strategic chain of islands which stretch across the Bering Sea from Alaska toward Japan.

NO LANDINGS

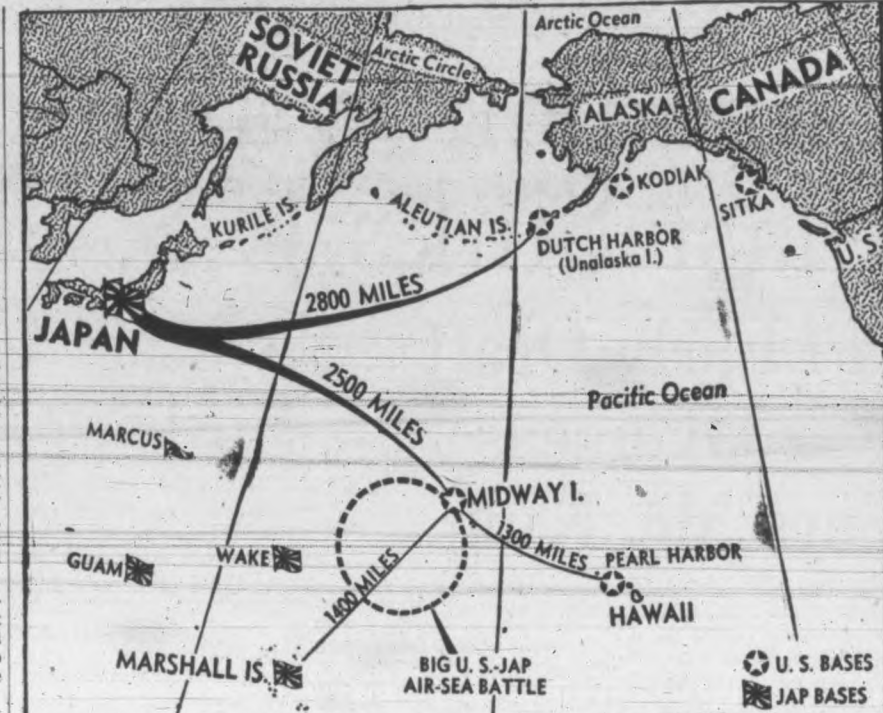

Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States Pacific fleet, described the situation in the far north as "confused" several days ago, but there has been no hint from any source other than Tokyo of any Japanese troop landings in the Aleutians. Today a navy spokesman in Washington said, no Alaskan areas "are troubled with unwanted visitors up to this time."

In breaking its long silence, Japanese Imperial headquarters dismissed the three-day battle of Midway as a brief but heavy assault on a single day, June 5, which "inflicted heavy damage on enemy naval units and naval and air force establishments."

Significantly, however, the Japanese for the first time did not claim victory over the United States naval forces which Tokyo many weeks ago declared were "wiped out."

(Berlin broadcasts quoting Japanese headquarters said the Japanese reported 35 of their aircraft were missing in the Midway action and claimed two United States aircraft carriers, the Enterprise and Hornet types, were sunk. The Japanese also claimed that 120 U.S. aircraft were brought down.

CLAIMED DAMAGE
 (In reporting the Dutch Harbor operations, the Japanese claimed heavy damage to ports and air bases of the United States was done. This apparently meant American ports and air bases, rather than ports and air bases in the United States.)

(The Enterprise and Hornet are two of three aircraft carriers making up a 19,900-ton class in the United States navy. Their sister ship is the Yorktown, launched April 4, 1936, and oldest of the three.)

Nazis Lose Thousands

Red Defenders Of Sebastopol Yield Nothing

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian defenders of Sebastopol have not yielded a "single line" to the Germans although the fight for the besieged Crimean port hourly grows more intense, with the Germans incessantly attacking by land and in the air, Soviet reports declared today.

Dispatches to Red Star, Russian army newspaper, frankly said the German infantry had penetrated to a hilly sector, where the Nazis were trying to take two heights. But these reports added that the battle, generally still raged at those approaches to the city about which it began last Friday.

"Not a single line held by the defenders of the city has been seized by the enemy," the Red Star dispatch said.

In the air, the reports added, German planes have broken through Soviet defenses at some points to bomb fortifications.

DISPERSE ATTACK
 Shellfire from Sebastopol's defence batteries dispersed a Nazi infantry regiment and killed many of its men today in checking an offensive said to have cost the Germans 2,500 dead Tuesday.

Hitler's field headquarters claimed today that German troops had stormed deeper into the fortifications of Sebastopol, last Soviet stronghold in the Crimea. (Today marked the sixth day of furious assault by German forces which have besieged the great Black Sea naval base for more than seven months.

British Repulse Another Attack On Bir Hacheim

CAIRO (AP)—British headquarters announced today a large-scale Axis attack on Bir Hacheim, southern anchor of the British Libyan lines, had been driven off.

British armored and motorized forces assisted the Free French garrison of Bir Hacheim to repulse the enemy, "who used an increased number of tanks and dive bombers as well as infantry and artillery," the communique said.

"Our mobile columns," it reported, "are continuing to harass effectively the enemy's line of supply from the west."

In the Cauldron area—where the Axis army rolled back British detachments west of Knightsbridge—gunners of tanks and armored cars were reported to have engaged Axis armored forces in long range duels.

PLANES HIT TANK

The R.A.F. Middle East headquarters reported its fighter and bomber planes ranged far over the Mediterranean and Libyan war theatres, attacking Axis armored units, gun positions and motor transport vehicles in the Bir Hacheim area Tuesday, raiding the German-occupied city of Candia on the island of Crete Monday and Tuesday night and hitting the big Italian naval base at Taranto, Italy, Monday night.

(A London dispatch today said British fighter planes and bombers in Libya destroyed a

New German Threats

Nazi Held Lands To Suffer More

BERNE, Switzerland (AP)—With 275 Czechs already slain in retaliation, the Germans made known today the assassination of "Hangman" Reinhard Heydrich would mark the beginning of new, sweeping punitive measures not only in dismembered Czechoslovakia but throughout all the restive occupied countries.

Continuing attacks against occupation armies in the north, west and east confront Germany with a potential second or third front and require vigorous counter-action, dispatches from Berlin said.

Prague, Paris, Amsterdam and all Poland and Yugoslavia were regarded here as likely to feel first the effects of the increased death penalties.

Executions up to now have been averaging 10 a day in occupied France, Czechs have been shot in groups of 25 or more at a time since the attack which took the life of Heydrich, No. 2 Gestapo man.

Figures of the toll being taken in occupied Yugoslavia rarely are seen in print, but travelers told of talking to persons on trains who offered to act as guides to villages where virtually the entire population has been wiped out because patriot troops were found to have been quartered there.

Calls Jap Warships Slave Runners

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Communist newspaper New China Daily News published today an article said to have been written by a Japanese prisoner of war declaring "poor nutrition and sleeping quarters more than counter-balance for heavier guns and higher speed of Japanese warships."

"Most Japanese sailors are crowded on lower decks," the article said. "Japanese naval officers scoff at American and British warships as tourist boats but the Japanese seamen have no love for their own slave runners.

"For example, more than 1,000 out of 1,500 members of the crew of the Japanese battleship Hyuga (completed in 1918) were housed on lower decks in bunks which take up even the passages. The sailors sleep rubbing shoulders with each other. The foul air causes a number of diseases, mostly pleurisy and weak lungs." A number of collisions, groundings and explosions aboard Japanese warships resulted from decreased efficiency caused by the poor living conditions, the article stated. It said known instances included a collision of the Hyuga and a submarine off western Japan and an explosion aboard a cruiser of the Myoko class.

The Japanese navy has a dread of air attacks, the article added, because most of the deck armor has been sacrificed for more guns and higher speed.

The plans and operations department will be in immediate charge of the vice-chief of the Imperial General Staff, while the remainder of the general staff will be in charge of a new member of the army council, the deputy chief of the general staff.

He is a combination of soldier, engineer and scientist and formerly was director-general of arms and equipment.

Weather Brings Pause in Bombings

LONDON (CP)—For the third night this month, bad weather interrupted the R.A.F. offensive against Germany Tuesday night. British bombers opened the month with the 1,036-plane raid on Essen, and followed with two successive night attacks on Essen and Bremen before bad weather again took a hand Sunday night. Monday night the Ruhr Valley was bombed.

LABOR MINISTER SEES 10-YEAR WAR

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell Tuesday forecast the war would last 10 years, but said he hoped he was wrong.

He was replying to questions in the House of Commons asked by George Black, Con., Yukon, who again sought action by the government to make wages paid American workers on the Alaska Highway conform with the Canadian scale.

Mr. Black referred to previous discussion on this point after Mr. Mitchell had replied the main objective was to get the highway built as quickly as possible as a defence measure.

If the immediate defence of Alaska depends on completion of the highway it is too late, Mr. Black said.

For the immediate defence of Alaska it is possible at the moment to move any quantity of men and materials to Alaska by ship and rail, he said, without using any part of the highway.

"I am one of those who think the war is going to last 10 years, and I hope I am wrong," Mr. Mitchell said. "The time may come when we will be very glad to have that highway," he added.

But the minister said nothing could be done at the moment to bring American wage rates on the highway construction down to the Canadian level.

Mr. Black insisted that Canadian laws regulating wage ceilings should apply to all who worked in Canada. "In Canada, Canadian laws should prevail," he said.

The minister replied: "That is a lovely theory but it does not always work."

He said that many skilled workers from the United States had to be brought in by American contractors and in addition to their local rates of pay they received 25 per cent for foreign service.

Call-up Lottery

OTTAWA (CP)—Expectation of officials in the national war services department is that the first call-up lottery in connection with Canada's compulsory military service plan will be held in August.

But spokesmen said it is not definite yet that the lottery system can be instituted that soon. It was first thought possible the lottery could be used in June, but it was found impossible to set up the necessary machinery that soon.

Final decision has not yet been reached on the machinery to be used for the draw, officials said. It is understood drawings will be made in each war services division rather than a national drawing.

80,340 Enlistments

OTTAWA (CP)—Enlistments in the armed forces during the first five months of 1942 totaled 80,340, it was reported in a return made in the House of Commons for King, Hazen, Con., St. John, Albert, N.B.

Division among the forces was: Army 52,615, air force 19,926, and navy 7,799.

A. Slaght, M.P., Speaks

Balloon Barrage Urged for Here; Also Halifax

OTTAWA (CP)—Barrage balloon protection for Esquimalt, Patricia Bay and Halifax was demanded immediately in the House of Commons, Tuesday by Arthur Slaght, Liberal, Parry Sound, Ont.

He said these were important points where an enemy attack might cause serious results.

While visiting the United Kingdom last year, Mr. Slaght said he had found important British ports efficiently protected with barrage balloons and men in the air forces had said they feared nothing so much in an attack as being obliged to dive-bomb any objective protected by balloons.

"Yet Halifax has not a barrage balloon over it," Esquimalt, the only drydock under the control of the British Empire on the Pacific Ocean today, has no barrage balloon protection, Patricia Bay, the great airport on the Pacific coast, has no barrage balloon protection," said Mr. Slaght.

"Halifax is a tinder town in this respect, a great many inflammable wooden buildings, susceptible to incendiary bombs to a degree it almost makes one shudder to think of."

"There are ammunition dumps there, docks for the repair of vessels, we all know it is the centre for the convoys which are made up to go to the Motherland, and I assert that the destruction of Liverpool tomorrow morning would not be as great a blow to the British Empire, to say nothing of Canada, as to make a rubble heap of Halifax."

"I assert further that there is no port, no strategic war industry on the whole North American continent that would mean such a terrific loss to the British Empire and the United Nations in our war effort as the destruction of Halifax overnight."

He believed American members of the joint defence board would agree that the city of Halifax was the one spot in North America that could least be spared. He did not appeal for the residents of the city who were prepared to take their chances.

Conservative House Leader Hanson said he had discussed barrage balloons with British officers while in the United Kingdom last year and found the officers favored their retention. When the balloons were first installed over Dover the Germans would shoot them down almost as quickly as they were raised, but after a time left them alone.

Mr. Hanson said he wondered why there should be so much concentration at Halifax.

"They not only have a huge munitions dump in the vicinity, but in recent months they have also erected there a huge graving dock, which is also very vulnerable and for which there is not very much defence," he said.

J. S. Roy, Ind., Gaspé, Que., said the Gaspé coast and the St. Lawrence River were the real entrance to Canada and their defence works were not adequate. He said one of two ships attacked in the St. Lawrence recently was sunk 25 miles above Gaspé, almost halfway between Gaspé and Montreal, while the other was farther down the river.

"The members have my suggestions for improved defences as the House continued debate on the war appropriation bill."

"The north shore of the St. Lawrence has no defence of any kind," said Mr. Roy. "There are no guns and there are no soldiers. Along that route to Quebec, Montreal and the upper lakes there is no defence at all until you get to Quebec."

Mr. Slaght said he had brought his proposal for balloon barrage protection to the attention of authorities including the Canadian section of the Canadian-United States Joint Defence Board.

"I found no sympathy in the matters that I brought forward," he said. "Notwithstanding that and the lapse of some time, I desire it understood that I make these suggestions in an absolutely constructive and friendly spirit and not as a critic."

Disloyal Calgarian

CALGARY (CP)—Because he is reported to have remained seated when "God Save The King" was played after a dance Monday night, a Calgary man is in hospital suffering from head cuts and a black eye.

According to the story, the victim was challenged by a member of the R.A.F. outside following his alleged lack of patriotism. It is believed the man had previously served with the Canadian army and had been honorably discharged. His condition is reported to be good.

Rupert Normal After Alert

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Residents of this north coast city went through their normal routine today after undergoing an "imminent danger" signal Tuesday when unidentified planes later identified as friendly—were reported approaching.

In British Columbia's first air alert touched off by approaching planes, the first notes of the warning sirens emptied schools and shut down some industrial works. Some of the children were taken to wooded spots as precautionary measures, but for the majority the warning caused only minor upsets.

Most merchants and shop clerks gathered in doorways for a possible glimpse at the planes which had caused the warning. Pedestrians were unwilling to miss anything and police ordered air raid wardens to clear the streets.

(Western Air Command of the R.C.A.F. in Victoria said: "Owing to presence of unidentified aircraft off northern coast of British Columbia, an air raid alert was imposed at Prince Rupert at 12.30 p.m. June 9. The aircraft were later identified as friendly.")

Two hours and five minutes later the all-clear was sounded and the city returned to normal. No blackout was observed here Tuesday night for the second night since June 3 when Japanese planes raided the U.S. naval base at Dutch Harbor, Alaska. Since the raid a precautionary blackout had been observed here until Monday night, when the blackout was lifted. A coastwise radio silence imposed after the Dutch Harbor raid was lifted Sunday night.

Drew Asserts Right To Challenge Report

TORONTO (CP)—George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, informed his attack on the Hongkong report would be examined by Department of Justice officials at Ottawa, issued the following statement:

"The Minister of Justice should know better than anyone else in Canada that every citizen of a free country has the right and duty to examine a commission report with utmost care, and if it is wrong, to criticize it publicly. "It is a report paid for by the public and for the public use and they have a right to know the facts. If the Chief Justice of Canada chooses to act as a commissioner; his judicial role entitles his report to no more immunity of criticism than if the commissioner were the humblest citizen of the land. The report speaks for itself and the only test is whether the report is right or wrong."

Petain at Last Expects Axis Defeat

By WADE WERNER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two years of war since Dunkerque have convinced Chief of State Marshal Petain the Axis cannot win, authoritative reports from Vichy revealed today.

There was a time after the fall of France in 1940 when Petain regarded a German victory as inevitable; but now, these reports said, the old marshal is convinced Germany and her allies will be defeated.

Vichy's collaborationist Chief of Government Pierre Laval, however, still holds the contrary view. An American observer who recently talked with him quoted Laval as saying Germany could not be defeated and, moreover, it would be a disaster for Europe if Britain and Soviet Russia won.

Reliable informants in Vichy report Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of the Vichy government's armed forces, holds a somewhat similar opinion.

Fort William M.P. Asks Uniform Wages

OTTAWA (CP)—Rev. Daniel McIvor, Liberal, Fort William, Ont., made a plea in the House of Commons Tuesday for uniform wage rates through the Dominion.

Speaking during the debate on the war appropriations bill, he said pulp and paper workers in Quebec province were paid higher wages than those doing the same work at Fort William.

"This makes for unrest among the workers."

He said to Quebec members this issue offered one of the "outstanding struggles" they must face in the future. He also argued that a woman worker should get the same wage rate as a man if she performs the same work.

Brook Claxton, Liberal, Montreal-St. George, said provision should be made for the care of children of married women working in war industries. Existing facilities in Ontario and Quebec were "hopelessly inadequate."

"I believe the committee may safely leave this matter to the Department of Labor, and particularly to the selective service branch, and rest assured every provision should be made for the care of children of married women working in war industries. Existing facilities in Ontario and Quebec were 'hopelessly inadequate.'"

German Editor Admits Weakness

BERNE (AP)—The editor of the Frankfurter Zeitung in his June 7 issue said Germany "at present" is unable to strike back at Britain for the air raids on towns and industrial areas.

He said the reason is that "at present the Luftwaffe is engaged on many fronts from northern Norway to northern Africa."

"The editor declared German counter-strokes now are taking place only 'occasionally,' but said Germany obviously is keeping strong forces in reserve on the western front, well aware that Britain might utilize the crisis of the eastern front for a western effort."

He expressed the conviction that meanwhile the German people would not "bend down" under British air raids even though they be numerous and heavy.

Interesting Experiment

SINCE THE R.A.F. PUT MORE THAN 1,000 planes over Cologne, it has become risky to say that anything is impossible. It hadn't been so long before, that airmen were saying the maximum Britain could put in the air in one raid was about 500 planes because of the congestion and limited airfield space in Britain. Those difficulties have been overcome by organization and co-ordination.

Now British Air Chief Marshal A. T. Harris forecasts 10,000 bombers a night from Britain over Germany. What they will do will make what happened to Luebeck, Rostov, Cologne and Essen look like the effects of only a gentle zephyr.

Paralleling the expansion of operational plans to a degree until now considered to be only fanciful, is the expansion of the production facilities which make operations on such a scale conceivable. When President Roosevelt set an objective of 50,000 planes to be made in the United States alone this year, most people thought it merely propaganda talk. However, now we know the 50,000 mark will not only be reached but surpassed.

These developments set us wondering anew as to the possibilities of aerial warfare, wondering whether what Major Alexis de Seversky has been saying in his book, "Victory Through Air Power," about winning the war through air superiority alone may not be possible. Air Chief Marshal Harris seems to think it is. He describes as "silly" the saying, "bombing can never win a war." It hasn't been tried yet. Capt. H. H. Balfour, M.C., British Under-Secretary of State for Air, who is now in Victoria, will not go so far. He says air power in itself will not be enough and that victory can be achieved only through co-operation of land, sea and air forces.

However, air power is, from every point of view, a prime essential to victory. It has been proved so in every campaign so far in this war. Now that we have superiority in that power we have achieved the first essential of victory.

Hitler knows what it all means. It is what his well-known intuition is struggling with at the moment. It doubtless accounts for delay in making up his mind about launching his gigantic plan of campaign on the eastern front. Midsummer is drawing near, but he stalls. After Cologne and Essen he knows he can no longer concentrate on one front in the east, that a second front in the west is in the making. He knows that the cannot force ahead confidently in the east while his western frontier is being blasted and burned, with worse to come as the air potential of the United Nations mounts.

In the last couple of weeks the R.A.F. over Germany has wreaked destruction unprecedented in the annals of war. Regrettable as it is for innocent women and children to suffer, and for homes to be smashed wholesale, who started this thing, anyway? Who murdered 20,000 civilians in Rotterdam from the air after the city had surrendered? Who bombed and shelled Warsaw until the place was a shambles? Who strafed almost defenceless Belgrade in broad daylight and left it littered with corpses? Who sent bombers by the hundreds against London, Plymouth, Coventry and peaceful Canterbury?

Now all is being returned in redoubled measure. Hitler and his people have learned what 1,000 planes a night can do. They will be learning what ten times that number can do.

Whether bombing can actually win a war can be determined only by experiment, as it has never been tried. The Air Chief Marshal says the initial experiment on an interesting subject is about to be made. And Germany is going to be the guinea pig.

Luxury (Death) Ship

IT NOW TURNS OUT THAT THE FIRE which destroyed the Normandie and resulted in her capsizing at her New York dock, was a blessing in disguise. It had been intended at one time to use her as a troop carrier. Her capacity was estimated at 15,000 troops. Evidence before a United States committee indicates she was unsafe for any such use. Her construction and known instability were such that under any heavy load she was liable to capsize at sea.

Captain Lehuide, French commander of the Normandie, gave it as his opinion on examination by counsel, that the vessel was so constructed that her use for any war purpose was inadvisable. Other competent witnesses said that the Normandie because of her lack of proper compartmentation, the location of her motive power, and her lack of stability was extremely vulnerable to attack by submarine. Unlike the British large luxury liners, the French liner was never designed with thoughts of war use. She had a large measure of speed and operated economically. Nevertheless, the absence of other qualities, particularly stability and compartmentation, should have militated against any plans for her use as a troop carrier. It was noted that the weight of 15,000 soldiers unevenly distributed at any time might result in a disaster at sea. The capsizing of the vessel merely under the weight of the trapped water poured on her by the firefighters is taken as confirming the opinions with regard to her instability.

If the Normandie was a potential death ship, liable to capsize, it is all to the good that she capsized when and as she did without loss of life. At the time, however, it was felt as a setback to Allied war efforts. But if she had turned turtle at sea with 15,000 fighting men aboard it would have been a much more serious war loss as well as the greatest disaster in marine history.

What puzzles us most about the Normandie is how in an age of scientific construction and marine inspections to safeguard the public, it was possible that a vessel with such technical faults known to the experts, could not only have been built, but be presented to the traveling public as the last word in safety as well as luxury.

Forest Fire Hazard

COWICHAN LEADER QUOTES MR. W. B. Greeley of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, as telling a Senate committee in Washington, D.C., that Washington and Oregon were faced with a forest fire hazard that "exceeds anything this generation of foresters has ever experienced and probably will ever experience." The Senate committee thereupon has increased the forest fire protection funds by $5,000,000 and private interests have undertaken to put up dollar for dollar with this government increase.

The risk faced on the American side is paralleled here. Chief Forester C. D. Orchard is alive to the situation. He said to the Rotary Club the other day: "We must make preparations for what we are afraid will be one of the worst fire seasons ever experienced in British Columbia by reason of possible sabotage and enemy air raids."

Conscientious objectors are being brought from other parts of Canada and placed throughout the island to protect the forests. These men have shown themselves reliable and eager to serve their country in this way. Feeling in up-land timber districts, however, is that the fire-fighting forces are still inadequate to cope with any emergency; and that between the Dominion, provincial and municipal authorities, each often too apt to try to shift responsibility, there may be a slip-up that will cost us dearly this summer. There should be no delay in taking at once any measures necessary to remove any such apprehensions.

War Secret

THE SUBJECT OF BEER CURTAILMENT and rationing has been raised again in England. Lord Woolton, Food Minister, in answer to questions revealed what may have been a secret to the consumers. More beer is being drunk in England, but the amount of drunkenness since the war has steadily declined. The larger bulk now being drunk is made up by extra water—"a beverage approved by the highest authorities," he adds. If the tax on beer is on the bulk, which it probably is, the added water will increase the toll it pays. A satisfactory arrangement all round, except perhaps to the beer drinkers.

Notes

More dentists are being enlisted in the services and we trust that whatever they have in mind for Hitler and the toothy Jap is without novacain.

In colleges this year most graduates were signed for jobs before they received their diplomas. Who now remembers the good old depression days when a graduate could spend the next five years finding himself?

The C.W.A.C. is to function as an integral part of the Canadian Army with the same rights and privileges, according to an announcement from Defence Minister Ralston. The army was hesitant about bringing women into the service, but now they are in, the Canadian Military Journal argues that the discrepancies in pay between men and women doing the same work should be adjusted. In this day and age, it does not seem justified that women taking the same responsibilities as clerks, motor transport drivers and army storekeepers should receive only 90 cents a day, while the men are paid $1.30.

GOEBBELS' LITTLE HELPERS

We like to see optimism all around us. It's healthy. But we want it to be a tough, confident, businesslike optimism, the kind that you see shining through a well-trained regiment of soldiers and giving it style and authority, whether the men are in parade uniforms or dungarees. That kind of optimism doesn't need to feed on such silly stories as went the rounds during our week of super-optimism. Such stories, for example, as that Lloyds of London were laying odds that the war would be over this year. It just isn't so. That story touched off a wave of betting throughout the country, in Detroit and New York especially, not on whether we would win this war, but on whether victory would come in October, November or December. If Dr. Goebbels did not plant it as part of a campaign to help create a peace psychology, to help along his thesis that we don't need to fight or at least not very hard, then whoever did dream it up was one of his little helpers.

BAD NEWS

DURING the next few weeks I am hoping for some bad news. I mean tax news. If it doesn't come we shall get worse news—inflation news.

It is clear in Washington that the United States has only begun to meet the problem of inflation and must go much further if it is to avoid a ruinous price spiral. It is equally clear in Ottawa that Mr. Ilsley must strike, and strike hard, if he is to head off the same process in Canada. Actually, of course, the economies of the United States and Canada are so closely bound together now that we cannot escape an inflation among our neighbors. (A rise of a few cents a pound in the price of beef in the United States practically drained us of our beef supplies.)

Therefore, I hope for bad news in the form of more taxes or, better, compulsory savings. The people at large may not like this idea and they may see no necessity for it. They see the shelves of every store crammed with goods. They see activity of all sorts on every hand. It is inconceivable to many of them that we actually face a shortage of most goods in Canada while, at the same time, we have more money to spend than we ever had before. This department has been dolefully predicting all these things for more than a year now until everyone is tired of hearing it, but the pinch has come upon us at last.

THE SMALL MAN

THE ONLY way to prevent it deteriorating into a disaster of inflation is to tap our pocketbooks before we can spend our money. There is no use saying that prices must not rise. There is no use trying to ration everything. If we still have far more money than goods in the country prices will certainly rise through chiseling, bootlegging and black markets. That has never failed.

Therefore, Congress and the Canadian Parliament must enact drastic new taxes or compel us to save our money so that we may spend it after the war when goods are plentiful and must be sold. Now the tragedy of all this is that the new taxes or the new savings must come out of the lower income brackets if they are to be of any real use.

This statement will properly annoy every poor man and bring instant walls from the apostles of money magic; but unfortunately it is no longer a question of money—it is a physical question of goods, a shortage in the manpower and material to produce them. And unfortunately it is the poor man who is making inflation. The rich man is demanding less goods than ever before because already his income has been vastly reduced, as it should be, through taxes. The real pressure on goods in the United States and Canada comes from the man earning less than $2,000 a year—from the millions of families who have found new jobs, whose sons and daughters and even wives are working and earning incomes and now want to spend them.

INADEQUATE

THEREFORE, the tax laws before Congress now are totally inadequate because they strike chiefly at the middle and upper income brackets. They do not prick the balloon of inflation. They do not relieve the pressure on goods where it exists. They will certainly not stop inflation. Probably, if Congress still refuses for political reasons, to tap the small incomes—the only practical compromise is to start compulsory savings and this, I expect, will be done, if not now then later, perhaps too late.

As for the Canadian situation, Mr. Ilsley is preparing his budget now and will shortly introduce it. If he does not strike at purchasing power then we certainly cannot hold prices under the ceiling and he and everyone who can read figures knows it. Mr. Ilsley must either levy more taxes or secure more savings from the small man or we are for it. Thus his budget will be undoubtedly the most important in the history of the country. If it is a good budget it will be hard on the taxpayer; if it is a bad budget it will be easy on the taxpayer.

ILLUSION

MANY PEOPLE, I suppose, would rather take low taxes now and risk inflation. They imagine, of course, that everyone else might be ruined but they would escape. Some of them are under the illusion that an inflation would only ruin the rich man, whom no one likes anyway. If that were true we might all bear it with fortitude. But, alas, the poor man who has a few dollars in the bank or a life insurance policy would be the chief loser as the value of these savings declined; or even if he didn't own a cent he would be pinched by the rise in prices with which wages could not keep up, for the simple reason that the rise in prices would be nature's way of forcing him to buy less goods. Either way, by sound policies now or by high prices later he is going to buy less.

The businessman and merchant may consider these dull tidings and likely to discourage prosperity. The answer to him is that he can only sell the goods available anyway. He cannot sell what does not exist and he will have no trouble selling everything he can lay his hands on. And if inflation occurs he certainly will be one of the chief sufferers through the decline in his savings, but more, through the demoralization of business during and after the war. It is not too much to say, indeed, that a real inflation such as we could touch off now would undermine the whole system under which the businessman operates, just as it did in every country where inflation occurred in the last 20 years.

Each person's duty is clear. It is what you would do if you knew the alternative was surrender.

Rural 'Grapevine' Plan Recalls Primitive Democracy

By PETER EDSON

Beginning about mid-June, phenomena strange for even these unusual war times will be observable all over the United States. In half a million rural neighborhoods, groups of from 10 to 15 farm families will sit down to have explained to them, by one of their number, just what the President's seven-point program to control the cost of living really means, and what every family can do to contribute its share to this anti-inflation program.

The meetings will be only the first of a series of similar sessions to explain other war objectives—organization for rural fire fighting, sugar rationing, and various phases of the salvage campaigns like how to save grease to relieve the shortage in fats and oils.

This vast program of neighborhood meetings marks the creation of a human chain of information which is intended to reach the most remote communities of the country.

Organization of this vast neighborhood education scheme has been proceeding quietly since the middle of February, under the general direction of the Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture. By June 1, some 500,000 neighborhood leaders had been trained to assume responsibility for this educational work, each neighborhood leader to carry out the program in a group of from 10 to 15 farm families in his vicinity. Eventually there are to be a million of these neighborhood leaders, all serving on a volunteer basis.

OLD STUFF TO THEM

The task of perfecting this organization was in reality no great job for the Extension Service, which has been carrying on farm and home demonstration work for nearly 30 years. At the beginning of the last war, the county agent system was just getting started. It took a big jump in 1917, and has grown ever since, the farm agent's work being supplemented by a woman's program to carry to farm wives home demonstrations in canning, sewing, and other phases of rural house-keeping.

Consequently, when Secretary of Agriculture Claude A. Wickard assigned to the Extension Service of the department the job of carrying out education of farm people in the war programs it meant merely a shift in emphasis and subject matter of the work already being done. In mid-March, a conference of all federal and state extension services was held in Washington. The whole program of rural education for war was mapped out. The directors of the State Extension Services went home and called in their county agents and home economics demonstration agents and explained the work to them. There are 3,000 counties in the United States, and practically every one has its extension service.

Each county agent was given the task of organizing his county. There being some six million farm families, this means that the average county has about 2,000 farms. These farms might be divided, say, into 15 communities or 130 neighborhoods. The job of the county agent was to select community chairmen, one man and one woman, to supervise the education program to each community in the county.

ONLY THE BEGINNING

In normal times, the organization might have stopped there, with the naming of the 90,000 men and women community chairmen. Farmers could have propaganda machine. But the effort will be to keep politics out. There will be no discussion of the administration, labor policies, for instance—just the economic war necessity programs that everyone can agree on. But the creation of this rural grapevine represents an interesting experiment of return to the most primitive form

JOHNSTON-ANDERSON

Rev. Hugh McLeod, pastor of First United Church, officiated at the marriage Tuesday evening at 8:30 of Doris Lyle Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Anderson, 2730 Roseberry Avenue, and L.A.C. Maurice Albert Johnston, R.C.A.F., son of Mrs. W. J. Johnston, 15 Cook Street, and the late Mr. Johnston.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, where the reception rooms were beautifully decked with spring flowers, pink and white snapdragons and blue iris being arranged in tall standards flanking the fireplace and the overmantel ornamented with bowls of roses. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of rose crepe with matching hat, and carried a Colonial bouquet of gardenias and roses. Her sole attendant was her sister, Miss Muriel Anderson, whose dress was of turquoise blue crepe with hat of the same shade, and she carried a Colonial bouquet composed of pastel-colored flowers. The wedding music was played by Mr. J. H. McConnell, an uncle of the bride. Mr. Hugh Molyneux was best man.

Mothers of the bridal couple received with them at the reception which followed the ceremony, Mrs. Anderson wearing a rose ensemble with black accessories and a corsage bouquet of roses, and Mrs. Johnston wearing beige with brown accessories and a corsage of roses. The supper table, beautifully decorated with Talisman roses, held as its central attraction the wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Saunders of Chemainus, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Ireland and Mrs. R. D. Casson of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Long, Chemainus. For the honeymoon trip the bride changed her wedding dress for a leaf-green tailored suit with hat to match and accessories in the new luggage-tan shade.

SMITH-MYCOCK

The wedding took place Tuesday evening at St. Michael's and All Angel's Church, Royal Oak, with Rev. Canon H. V. Hitchcox officiating, of Doreen Caryln, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mycock, Alderly Road, Elk Lake, and B.Q.M.S. Richard A. Smith, the hand. Her veil of filmy tulle with a lover's knot of seed pearls at the bottom, was worn with a coronet of tulle and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white rosebuds, pink carnations and blue delphinium tips.

Four attendants followed her to the altar. Miss Doris Ostertag in robin's egg blue chiffon, was maid-of-honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Eva Jones and Miss Eileen Merriman, cousin of the bride, in orchid chiffon, and Miss Gladys Campbell in robin's egg blue chiffon. Their gowns were fashioned alike with bouffant skirts, slim-fitting bodices with sweetheart necklines and long bishop sleeves. They wore doll hats trimmed with ribbon and flowers to match their gowns and carried colonial bouquets of blue and pink flowers.

Mr. Wilfred Mycock, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Walter and Norman Mycock, brothers of the bride, and Basil Harford, nephew of the groom.

After the service a reception was held at the Royal Oak Community Hall, which was decorated with pink and white streamers. The bridal couple stood beneath a decorated lattice arch to receive the felicitations of their many friends. Assisting in welcoming the guests were Mrs. Mycock in a powder blue crepe ensemble and straw hat to match, and the groom's mother wearing a navy blue ensemble. Both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations. A three-tiered wedding cake centred the refreshment table which was covered with a lace and linen cloth and arranged with vases of roses and carnations and tall white tapers in silver holders. The toast to the bride was proposed by her uncle, Mr. Earle Heat. During the reception Mrs. R. M. McIntosh sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me." Music for the dancing was supplied by Irving's orchestra. The bride and groom will make their home on Swan Street.

Island Arts and Crafts Society will hold its annual meeting June 16 at 8:15 in the clubroom, Royal Bank Building, Cook and Fort Streets, when officers will be appointed for the coming year and accounts presented.

Miss M. MacDonald Bride Today of Mr. R. H. Ford

A pretty wedding took place at 2 this afternoon in the Knox Presbyterian Church, Sooke, when Rev. Duncan Munro united in marriage Mary Alice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. MacDonald, East Saanich Road, Royal Oak, and Mr. Raymond Herbert Ford, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ford, Hattonford, Alberta.

The church was beautifully decorated with spring flowers by friends of the bride. Miss Florence Munro presided at the organ and during the signing of the register played "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of triple sheer, featuring a high neckline with the bodice trimmed with seed pearls and long bishop sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk net was attached to coronet of orange blossoms, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and mauve sweet peas and fern.

There were four attendants. Miss Ethel MacDonald, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in a periwinkle blue net with lace trimmed bolero and a doll hat of blue point d'esprit and bouquet of roses. Miss Violet Meason, of Calgary, in Nile green lace, and Miss Margaret MacDonald in seafoam green taffeta, were the bridesmaids and little Nellie MacDonald, sister of the bride, in a Victorian frock of pale rose voile, trimmed with satin ribbon with flowers in her hair, was flower girl. She carried a basket of rose petals. The bridesmaids wore floor-length gowns and shoulder length veils, held in place with flowers and carried bouquets of roses and fern.

The best man was Pte. Kenneth Ford, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Messrs. Hughbert MacDonald, brother of the bride; Ernie Milligan and Peter Arnold.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was effectively decorated with flowers and streamers of white and pale blue and pink. The bride couple received the good wishes of their many friends beneath a decorated arch and were assisted by the bride's mother in a navy and white georgette ensemble and corsage of sweetheart roses, and Mrs. A. Huxley, the bride's grandmother, wearing a navy ensemble with corsage bouquet of sweetheart roses. A three-tiered wedding cake centred the table, which was covered with a lace and linen cloth, an heirloom of the bride's family. During the reception musical selections were played by Mr. Charles Tronston and Mr. A. Huxley.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford will make their home on the East Saanich Road.

Well-known Victoria Pioneer Celebrates 99th Birthday

MRS. WILLIAM MILNES FIELDS

Today marks the 99th birthday of one of Victoria's oldest and most interesting pioneers, Mrs. W. M. Fields, whose lifetime criteria has been, as she puts it herself: "I have always been in the front line, fighting for a good cause."

She lives now with her eldest son, Mr. John C. Fields, now 75 himself, at the family residence, 123 Cambridge Street, in a house filled with priceless treasures and mementoes of a long and adventurous career in the early home-stead days of the United States and Canada.

Her mind alert and with a ready, whimsical smile, she recalls clearly the early days of her childhood in a small village in Yorkshire when she stood beside her father in his fight against the drinking of liquor.

"He founded a temperance society when there wasn't another one in the countryside. Those were the days when the church was opposing the state, and we were right in the thick of it. My father instilled fine ideals in us and we have always upheld them. We were all fighters!" she said in an interview with the Times reporter.

SAW FIRST PETROLEUM

When she was 22, Mrs. Fields, then Violetta Cass, came to the United States to wed her husband, a "Yank man," as she calls him, from Pennsylvania. His father operated large coal mines, and Mrs. Fields' husband worked with him on many trips throughout the New England states. On one of these trips they visited Philadelphia to confer with a lawyer. During the course of the conversation the lawyer became very excited about a new product he had, and with great interest showed them a two-quart bottle of brownish liquid.

"It was the first petroleum we had ever seen. The lawyer was very excited about its possibilities for no one had seen much of the product in those days," Mrs. Fields continued. "And guess what it was used for? For rheumatism and rubbing on yourself!" After living in Pennsylvania for some years, Mrs. Fields moved with her husband to Virginia and thence to Iowa where he conducted a successful banking business in Cedar Falls. Queried about her experiences then she smiled: "In that part of my life I was so busy keeping my children that I had no time to remember anything else!" She had five boys and one girl.

Mrs. Fields recalled that she had first crossed the Atlantic in 1849 on the Persia, one of two side wheelers operating at that time. They made the run in two weeks, "which was considered quite an achievement. She crossed two or three times after that on the sidewheelers, then they were transferred to the Mediterranean, and the Cunard Line took over the trans-Atlantic run. Asked how she would like to fly across now, she said: "Certainly not. I'm quite happy where I am." But a grandson is a test pilot for a large American aeronautical concern and she is very proud of his achievements.

MOVED TO CANADA

The call of the land beckoned Mr. Field and, with his wife, he moved to Canada. From a U.S. border town, they drove into Regina in an open buggy and loved the country right away. They bought their first piece of Canadian land there in 1902 when Regina had a population of 2,500, and there were two other settlers in the countryside. Mr. Fields was agent for Messrs. Bartholomew and Hopper, large Iowa land operators who bought 200,000 acres in the vicinity of Winnipeg. "Winnipeg in those days was a small village, and Portage Avenue was just a country road," said Mrs. Fields.

Then the family moved to Victoria a few years later. The first house they lived in they rented from Mr. R. W. Gibson in York Place. After that they moved to Heywood Avenue and then to Cambridge Street, where they now reside.

The family have been brought up in the highest Christian traditions and have long been members in Victoria of Fairfield United Church, where Mrs. Fields and her son are well-known figures in the Sunday congregation. Only last Mother's Day, Mrs. Fields started off for service, but had to return home as she was unable to mount the stairs.

"My husband's father built chapels at all his mines," she recalls, "and encouraged the people to attend service. He was a good man and the influence of he and his wife were felt wherever they went."

"My father was a Quaker and my mother a Methodist," she continued. "I remember when I was a small girl, and my parents had just completed building a new house. It was the custom in those days to have a grand 'house-opening,' and usually a great deal of liquor flowed and dancing and games were held. Instead, my parents went out and invited all the old men and women in the neighborhood to tea. And that occasion was honored annually in the same way."

LARGE FAMILY

Mrs. Fields has another son in Victoria, Mr. C. A. Fields, Linden Avenue. He has five sons, James in the R.C.N.V.R., at H.M.C.S. Royal Roads; Robert in Montreal in the R.C.A.F.; Charles, in business in Vancouver; Don at University of B.C. and Gordon, an instructor at Victoria College; and a daughter, Ruth, who has just received her doctor's degree at California University.

Mrs. Fields' other children are H. E. Fields in North Dakota; James, in Seattle; and Mrs. A. C. Roberts, wife of Dr. Roberts, president of State Teachers' College in San Francisco. Another son, William, died. She has 10 grandsons, five granddaughters, three great grandsons and two great great grandsons.

For the first time in a great many years, there will not be a large family gathering honoring Mrs. Fields' birthday, owing to the difficulties of traveling in wartime and Mrs. Fields' own frailty. Congratulations and gifts of flowers from a host of friends have arrived at the house today in tribute to one of Victoria's grand pioneers and fine citizens.

Reminded that her 100th birthday next year would also mark the centennial year of the city of Victoria's founding, Mrs. Fields smiled:

"I hope I live to see that. It would be a great day."

Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Tuesday evening at the Y.W.C.A. with Mrs. E. Rough, president, in the chair. Plans were made for a week-end at Shawanigan Lake, June 27 and 28. Reports for the past year's work were read by the president, secretaries and committee conveners. The director, Mrs. T. Hammond, took charge of the cultural program for the evening and gave a book review on Eric Knight's "This Above All."

The following day, in company with Mrs. Woodward, he visited the Russian motorship "Sovetskaya Letvia," accompanied by Commander G. Borrie, R.C.N.R., as aide, Sunday morning His Honor took the salute at the annual memorial service of the Last Post Fund of British Columbia held in the Soldiers' Burial Ground. Mrs. Woodward raised the flag at the impressive ceremony. Acting as aide was Col. T. S. Leslie.

Before returning to Victoria, His Honor and Mrs. Woodward will present the prizes at the term-closing exercises of Crofton House School, Friday afternoon, accompanied by Col. F. C. Underhill. Sunday morning they will attend Solemn Mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Rosary at the invitation of Archbishop Duke. They will be accompanied by Col. Leslie as aide.

National I.O.D.E. Elects B.C. Women

Four British Columbia women were elected to be national councillors of the I.O.D.E. at the annual meeting held in the east. This is felt to be a singular honor, recognizing the splendid efficiency of the organization in this province.

The four ladies are Mrs. Frank Stead, Mrs. S. W. Muncey, Mrs. C. H. Barker and Mrs. W. N. Martin.

By right of their provincial office the following six additional B.C. women are on the national executive: Mesdames R. J. Sprott, P. E. Corby, C. Barrett-Lennard, G. A. Grant, William Ellis and Rupert Neil.

In recognition of her long services to and interest in the Navy League, Mrs. C. H. Selby has been appointed national Navy League convener.

Grubbiness shows where the sleeper's head has rested... where the sheet has been turned down.

Grubby marks lose their stubborn hold with Sunlight's "EXTRA-SOAPINESS"

ANY soap—bar, powder or flakes—will remove the "all-over" dirt from clothes. But almost everything you wash has certain extra dirty parts which require special treatment to get them really clean. Where sheets have been folded down, where heads have rested on pillow-cases, the collars and cuffs of shirts, smocks and children's clothes—these parts call for Sunlight's "extra soapiness."

Sunlight and you leave a film of soap right on the dirt. And because it is Sunlight Soap you're using, this thin, soapy film is enough to loosen the last speck of stubborn grime, and the rich Sunlight lather carries it away. That is the Sunlight method of washing—an amazingly effective and safe way of getting clothes spotlessly clean.

You'll find this "extra soapiness" a wonderful help in household cleaning, too. It gets everything spotless in no time. And Sunlight is so pure, it's absolutely safe for hands—keeps them soft and white.

Extra Sugar Ready For Preserving

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board today reminded B.C. residents sugar is available for preserving fruit this summer in addition to the regular per person ration.

The board said the rationing order provides purchases of sugar for preserving or canning on the basis of half a pound of sugar for every pound of fruit weight, which means fruit as purchased and not as prepared for preserving. The allowance for jams and jellies is three-quarters of a pound of sugar for every pound of fruit weight.

The board said purchasing of preserving sugar was entirely on the honor system, no permit being required. If suggested persons doing preserving left it in the hands of their grocers to estimate the amount of sugar needed.

Both the consumer making the purchase of preserving sugar and the retailer must keep an accurate account of the sugar thus bought. If any sugar remains after canning, it shall form part of the regular ration of one-half pound per person per week.

P.T.A. Activities

Oaklands P.T.A. met Friday in the school auditorium and received gifts to equip the recently-completed hospital rooms. Mesdames McInnes, Wren and McNaught, R.N., welcomed the guests. Gifts of cash and materials were generous. Later tea was served from a lace-covered table centred with a bowl of Lady Ellington roses and small vases of pink pyrethrum daisies. Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Johnson poured tea and members of the social committee served.

ESQUIMALT DEAL EFFECTS SAVING

Esquimalt Municipal Council Tuesday, by accepting an offer of the Hagar Investment Company, acquired $4,500 of its own 5 per cent bonds in exchange for $4,500 Dominion government 3 per cent bonds, and effected a saving of $90 a year for 21 years on the terms of the exchange. The total saving to the municipality is $1,784.70. The deal was submitted by Councillor A. Hadfield as chairman of the finance committee.

A suggestion of the Saanich Municipality that the Gorge bridge be repainted, sharing the costs with Esquimalt on a 50-50 basis, was accepted. Saanich will obtain bids on the work.

A request of the Esquimalt Services Home Committee for council's permission for men in the armed services using the home to use the tennis courts in Memorial Park was granted.

Reeve A. Lockley was appointed as Esquimalt representative on the Board of Directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital for the ensuing year.

Purchase of an automobile as a police patrol wagon was approved by council when the Police Commission reported refusal of one of the constables to continue using his own car, drawing a weekly allowance for its use. A second-hand car will be purchased at a cost of $650. Council refused the application of Mrs. R. Porteous to clear undergrowth in her lot which she claimed had originated in an adjoining municipally-owned lot.

Saanich Rangers Start Instruction

No. 4 Co. Saanich Rangers will meet every Thursday in the Brentwood Badminton Hall, commencing June 11, at 8.

A map instruction course will commence this week. All members are asked to attend the first meeting to enable them to get the full course, Maurice Atkins, Company Commander, says.

ADD IN SALVAGE DRIVE—David Bruce, 7, and Jack Leong, 12, pupils of McKenzie Avenue School, struggle along with five old tires and a large bundle of paper on a little wagon. One tire kept slipping off and binding the rear wheels, so that the load had to be adjusted frequently. They arrived at school a little late, but with an air of "a good job well done." David had come more than half a mile with his load, alone, before he met Jack who lent a helping hand. The school recently made a donation of $100 to the Red Cross.

Biggest A.R.P. Test Thursday Night

The biggest A.R.P. practice yet staged in Victoria will be held Thursday night in the district bounded by Pandora, Blanshard, Humboldt and the waterfront. Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, announced today.

Plan of the practice will be similar to tests conducted in residential districts but the number of services taking part and the number of incidents planned exceeds totals for other practices. Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, deputy civilian protection officer, and district warden, will be in charge of the practice. The district control room at the Eagles' Hall and the central control will be manned.

The practice will begin at 7.30. Twenty-six incidents have been

JUDGING by press notices they received in Vancouver papers, Victoria Machinery Depot footballers made quite an impression when they turned back Vancouver Police 5 to 1 in Saturday's Province Cup semifinal. Jock McColl's lads are classed as the club to whip for possession of the coveted mug and will likely go into the final rated favorites. V.M.D. will engage the winner of tonight's match between St. Andrews and Boeings in the deciding encounter. Which ever club the V.M.D. tackles, they are certain to meet up with much stiffer competition than marked their semifinal with the police. The shipyarders have a smart soccer machine and Victoria fans will be pulling for them to take the decision.

Writing in the Vancouver Province, soccer critic Charley Foster, had the following to say about the performance of the V.M.D.:

"The score in no way represents the superiority of the winners, who were so much better than the 'Coppers' that it could easily have been far heavier without doing the losers an injustice. The Islanders scored five times in the first half, yet failed to find the net after the interval, although they had even more of the play in that period than they did before halftime.

"Outstanding feature of the game was the brilliant display of the Depot left wing of Doug Todd, former Kerrisdale and Varsity star, and George Payne, the outside left being positively dazzling in his footwork and for his grand centres, which simply begged to be converted. Behind this pair was Andy Hughes, the Dundee and R.A.F. left-half, who gave an artistic display of ball trapping manoeuvring and spoonfeeding of his forwards."

Wonder what the boss racing

U.S. Racing Enjoys Heyday

May Set Betting Record

NEW YORK (AP)—About the only person around the race tracks these days with a legitimate protest over what the war has done to his business is the parking-lot attendant.

The rest of them, particularly the track operators, are too busy looking over some of the fanciest financial figures the turf has ever seen—or ever expected to see, for that matter.

For while a lack of gasoline and tires has cut heavily into the number of cars going to the tracks like Belmont, Aqueduct, Suffolk and Delaware—sometimes close to 50 per cent—attendance has not fallen off nearly so much, if at all.

What's more, with plenty of the "fresh" around these days, much of it from new jobs in defence plants and such, betting has skyrocketed until it looks as if this may be racing's biggest year. At Belmont, 436,966 fans bet a total of $27,773,297 for the recent 24-day meeting, compared with the 405,126 who wagered $22,311,349 a year ago. On the way to these gaudy goings-on, a new world record for one day's betting ($2,176,071) was set May 30. So was the world high for the average daily handle over a meeting—$1,157,221. The previous one-day tops for the Delaware and Suffolk plants also have been smashed this spring.

The parking-lot attendant at Belmont summed it up neatly on getaway day last Saturday when he looked over the limousines and jalopies and observed: "There ain't as many coming, but when they come they come in buses when they got here."

Knockout for Bobo

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—Harry Bobo, Pittsburgh's heavy-weight contender, scored a quick knockout over Bob Smith of Baltimore Tuesday night in what was to have been a 10-round feature boxing bout. Bobo weighed 205, Smith 190.

Bobo floored the game but outclassed Smith four times in the first round and twice more in the second before Smith was counted out after 1.53 while sprawled helplessly in Bobo's own corner.

boys will do with that proposed Whirlaway-Alsab match race, now that the latter has suffered his second defeat at the hands of Shut Out? Up until Saturday's running of the Belmont Stakes, which saw the Kentucky Derby victor again triumph over Al Sabath's $700 wonder colt, the race looked like a good thing. But now a match race could hardly be promoted between Whirlaway and Alsab without some attempt to include Shut Out in the field. Right now it looks like Shut Out will go on to the three-year-old championship and, after all, the son of Equipolse has bested Alsab in two out of three meetings.

We were pleased to learn Tuesday that our Dominos are going to get some recognition for their winning of the Canadian basketball championship. After all, the boys traveled clear across the continent in their victory march to the national crown and became the first Victoria club in history to win the honors away from home. Of course we realize that triumph in the field of athletics may be lost these days in the excitement that surrounds our victories in more important fields, but the Dominos are still entitled to some recognition for their feat.

We understand quite a program is being arranged for the affair, and that several notable sports figures will be invited. In order to give the fans a chance to sit in on the dinner and presentation, the banquet will be thrown open to the general public, and it is to be hoped a goodly number will turn out. Energetic Johnny Johnson, long a Dominos supporter, is working on the program, and he promises an entertaining evening for everybody.

37-Cent Horse Registers Win

By SCOTT YOUNG

TORONTO (CP)—The famous 37-cent filly, Omar's Gift, almost didn't get to the post Monday at St. Boniface Whittier Park for her first start—a winning one.

Eddie (Winnipeg Free Press) Armstrong tells the story. Owner Scotty Kennedy had forgotten (incredibly enough) to register his two-year-old for the Whittier meeting. She was entered in the second race, and when Scotty got to the track a short time before the first he was told his filly would not be accepted by the paddock steward until he produced her papers.

The documents were two miles away in downtown Winnipeg. From that minute things happened fast. Scotty whipped into Winnipeg, snatched the papers (which he had carried with him for weeks), raced back to the track and presented them. A few minutes later Omar's Gift went to the post and won the race.

Neither of the two main Winnipeg handicappers mentioned her story, from the time Scotty bought her from R. J. Speers for 37 cents to this early point in her career is as Runyonesque as fact ever will be.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Gus Cassenich of Chrisside, N.J., and Mose Brown, McKeesport, Pa., Negro fighter, were signed Sunday to meet at Forbes Field, June 29, for the world light-heavyweight title under the joint promotion of the Ronney-McGinley Club of Pittsburgh and Make Jacobs, New York promoter.

Promoter Art Rooney said one of the service relief funds will be given 10 per cent of the net proceeds.

Services Ball Stars After Win

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—If the all-service vs. all-stars ball game at Cleveland next month doesn't shatter the Municipal Stadium record of 80,000 attendance, Lieut. Mickey Cochrane, U.S.N., will be sadly disappointed . . . and so will a lot of others.

Mickey reported the other day that the soldiers and sailors and marines aren't expecting to lose to the big leaguers and he hinted the search for good players might even go so far as to bring Mickey Harris, the former Red Sox flinger, back from the Canal zone . . . the National Leaguers haven't begun yet to whoop it up for the regular all-star game here, mainly because the managers' votes won't all be in for a couple of weeks, but a look at the batting averages leaves the idea that the National might field a 40 per cent infield—catchers Blinn Phelps, Mickey Owen, Schnozz Lombardi and Ray Lamanno, each playing on a dime.

Byron Hollingsworth of the Tampa Times sends the sad news that the Palma Celia Golf Club, which has been giving away free fees for 10 years, has abolished the practice because of the scarcity of those little pegs.

Ed. Smith Hard Luck Hurler

Drops 2-Hit Game

Special "days" for ball players have been frowned upon in the major leagues this year because of the war, but in the spirit of fair play the American League should quickly set aside an "Ed Smith Day," and instead of presenting him with a rawhide suitcase or a set of matched teacups, give him a guaranteed nondescripting victory.

The stout, blond southpaw, who was one of the leading pitchers in the league last year, has lost 10 games this season without winning one and Tuesday night at Philadelphia he bumped into the most baffling setback of all.

He held the Athletics to two hits and yet was beaten 2 to 0 as the Chicago White Sox slumped into last place in the standings. In the second inning Bob Johnson led off with a double, Dick Siebert walked and when Smith threw too late to catch Johnson at third after fielding Buddy Blair's bunt, the bases were loaded. One run trickled across on a double play. Then with one down in the fifth Pete Suder walked, reached second on an infield out, advanced to third as pitcher Bob Harris scratched a single to deep short and scored when Luke Appling threw the ball wide to first.

The New York Yankees contributed another change to the American League standings by beating Detroit 4 to 1 and knocking the Tigers out of second place. Rookie Hank Borowy pitched four-hit ball to achieve his fourth consecutive victory.

DOERE HITS WELL

The Boston Red Sox took advantage of the opportunity to move ahead of Detroit with a 7 to 4 triumph over the dogged St. Louis Browns. Bobby Doerr led the Red Soxers with four hits, including a homer and a double, and regained the league's batting leadership with .390.

Five Washington errors, two of them by a rookie second baseman named Ellis Clary, brought up last week from Chattanooga, helped the Cleveland Indians gain a 7 to 6 decision against the Senators in a 10-inning night game at the capital.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' night game at St. Louis was postponed until tonight, limiting National League activity in two games. At Cincinnati each team was held to five hits, but the New York Giants curbed the Reds 3 to 1. Bill Lohman of the Giants pitched shutout ball, except for rookie Ray Lamanno's seventh homer, while his teammates

Canadian Record Daily Double

Winnipegger Gets $4,835

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—An all-time Canadian high return for a $2 daily double bet today lined the pockets of Mike Markowich—joint holder with his wife of a ticket that paid $4,835.55 at the Whittier Park racetrack here Tuesday night.

Mike, an unemployed railway construction worker who lives in Winnipeg, described himself to envious interviewers as "a gambler."

"I've been gambling on horses for 40 years," he said.

"What would he do with the money?" "The horses will probably get it back," he replied, later adding he planned to build a home with part of his winnings. He now lives in a boarding house. It was his second daily double of the Whittier meet. He won $185 last week.

Mike won his pot of gold on a hunch and dice numbers 7 and 11—"naturals."

Both horses were long shots—Pagan Royal in the first race and Mesmerist in the third.

The pari-mutuels number on Pagan Royal was 9797 and the number on Mesmerist was 9811.

"I looked at the last number in the first race for a seven and followed it up with taking the other natural, 11, in the third race," he said.

Pagan Royal paid off $25.50 for a straight $2 bet at the mutuels, while Mesmerist returned $21.75.

Pitzer and Nex Meet Navy Nine

It will be Royal Canadian Navy vs. Pitzer & Nex in tonight's senior ball game at the Athletic Park, starting at 6:30.

Resting in second place, one and a half games back of the top-place V.M.D., the bluejackets need the game to keep in the race for the lead. On the other hand Pitzer & Nex are up close to the leaders and a victory would move them that much nearer.

Stan Davies is expected to work on the mound for the Navy with either Tommy Musgrave or Lorne Murray taking the hillock for the gasmen.

Puzzle Fans With 14-9 Victory

Those win again, lose again Joker lacrosse players won again at the Sports Centre, Tuesday night. Meeting United Services for the second time this season the lads in black came through with a 14 to 9 win that mystified the small gathering of faithful present and the scoffers that conceded the game to Services and didn't bother to go out.

Jokers had everything against them. With three players sick and two out of town, they managed to pick up Dick Chunganes and Tom Halbert, members of the Joker junior squad, and then persuaded manager Jimmy Smith to climb into fogs for the first time this season.

These last minute additions arranged, the team managed to turn out at full strength. Then the boys deviated from their previous walking style and set plays to sling long passes at fast-breaking forwards.

Although a far cry from play as approved by the time-tested Smith method, it got results. As soon as the ball was home safe in their own crease, the young pack of Joker forwards scampered goalward to score most of their tallies on passes that came from almost the front seats at the other end of the box. Just to prove that statement, goalie Bill Andrews got four assists, a rare, rare thing indeed in lacrosse.

GOOD INDIVIDUALS

Services still have some of the finest individual players in the city and, except for brief inspirational moments, proved it to the fans. Only once or twice during the game did they show some semblance of team play, and when they did it got results. Most of the time, however, they were hinking around the box as if they hadn't even been introduced to each other. These lone excursions ended in merry squashing parties at the Joker end, Jokers, of course, doing the squashing.

In a fairly slow first quarter, Jokers took a 3 to 1 lead. In the second, Jackie James and Art Mayo clicked for a few brief moments to give Services a 4 to 3 lead. Then young Dick Chunganes broke away with 10 seconds to go to tie the game at 4 to 4 and leave it that way during the half-time breather.

Services started the third with good intentions, going two goals up in the first five minutes. Then Jokers started to roll, and before the period was over the score stood at 11 to 8. Came the final canto, and it was the same old story. Long passes and fast breaks caught Services bouncing on their heels.

ANDREWS PLAYS WELL

Goalie Bill Andrews had one of his warmish nights "and stopped many of the shots he had missed in his two previous disasters. He stopped 39 altogether. Herbie Smith, in Services' goal, looked better than predecessors Ernie Gawley and Jim Ryan. However, the Joker boys found him weak on the corners and beat him there. He stopped 23 shots.

Ray Douglas with five goals, Harry Kamal with three, and Dick Chunganes and Ken Calverley with two each led the Joker scoring. Sammy Andrews showed little sympathy for brother Bill, topping Services with three goals. The rest were all singletons.

Brown and Cockin refereed.

ABOUT
JOHNS-MANVILLEGetting Up-to-date
On a "First Edition"

The other day, your Johns-Manville reporter was leading through a book published in 1870 and dealing with the early history of asbestos. In describing asbestos and its development by H. W. Johns, one of the founders of Johns-Manville, it said: "Several patents have been granted to Mr. Johns, who is the original inventor of nearly all the practical applications of asbestos, and who has made its valuable properties known in all parts of the civilized world. Asbestos is now extensively used for roofing, steam pipe and boiler coverings, fire proof sheathing, coatings, cements, etc."

Now, to bring that paragraph up to date would require a long list of the hundreds of Johns-Manville products made of asbestos for home and industry, most of which today are serving in our war program. And it is natural that J-M should lead in asbestos goods for the company owns the largest asbestos mine in the world, at Asbestos, Que.

Conscription Attitude Cuts Through Personal Feelings

TORONTO—If your son John were likely to be conscripted for overseas service, in the event conscription became law, would this make you oppose the idea of conscription? Not if you are an average Canadian.

Studies by the Gallup Poll (Canadian Institute of Public Opinion) have found, a surprisingly small connection between what Canadians think about the conscription issue and the vulnerability of either themselves or members of their immediate family.

The question around which this coast-to-coast survey was centered was this one: "Do you think conscription for overseas service would mean that you, or any member of your immediate family would be conscripted for military service?"

Actual figures, of course, would depend on how sweeping such a law would be, but here is the way the people of Canada answered the general question: Yes, 48 per cent; no, 45 per cent; don't know, 7 per cent.

Thus, of those who had an opinion on the question, division is fairly even as to whether conscription would affect their homes or not. This division was approximately the same within each province, except in Quebec, where 56 per cent of those interviewed felt they or someone in their family would be conscripted if a conscription law were passed, against the national average of 48 per cent.

CONSCRIPTION

To find out how this situation affected conscription sentiment in Canada, the same persons were asked their views on conscription, in a carefully-worded question.

(EX-QUEBEC)

	Lab to Draft	Not Lab to Draft	Don't know whether Lab or not
For Conscription	69%	67%	57%
Against Conscription	24	23	29
Don't Know	7	10	14
	100	100	100

This table shows that conscription sentiment cuts right through personal considerations in the big majority of Canadian homes, in provinces outside Quebec. The same is true if Quebec is taken alone.

(QUEBEC ONLY)

	Lab to Draft	Not Lab to Draft	Don't know whether Lab or not
For Conscription	16%	16%	13%
Against Conscription	81	79	81
Don't Know	3	5	6

In other words, there is nothing in these figures to indicate that personal fear of the effects of conscription dictates the attitude of most Canadians to conscription itself.

Many Are Expected
To Attend 'Y' Camp

Arrangements for the annual camp season of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. are well under way, with officials expecting more than 100 boys between 10 and 17 years old to journey to Camp Thunderbird on Glinz Lake during the weeks of July 13 to Aug. 3.

The camp will be under the direction of Cameron Gorrie, B.A., boys' and young men's secretary of the local branch; Grant Paterson, B.A., sectional director of previous years, and Don Forward, Canadian Y.M.C.A. War Services secretary.

Dr. C. Carl of the Provincial Museum, with his staff, will conduct nature and animal life study on the camp property. The camp, consisting of more than 320 acres of wooded land, is an ideal location for all studies of B.C. nature life. Glinz Lake is 15 acres and offers full facilities for swimming and boating.

Bill Watson, B.A., L.L.B., traveler, author and lecturer, will be at the camp for the complete season, and will conduct outdoor studies and assist in the general program.

Campers will live in walled tents, with wooden floors, each tent being under the direction of a competent leader. All activities are supervised with the objective of health and safety of the boys in mind.

OFFER COURSES

In addition to a fully-planned program of recreation, including games, hikes, swimming and campfires, groups will be conducted in lifesaving, first aid, nature, Indian lore and numerous handicrafts. Separate programs for junior and senior boys will be run.

SERVING TEA FRIDAY

In compliance with the government's request to the public to conserve tea and coffee, St. Mary's Women's Guild will not serve tea or coffee at any future meetings with the exception of the garden party Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. W. Gibson, York Place. Arrangements for this event had been made before the government regulations came into effect.

It was found that in three groups — (1) Those who thought conscription would affect their families; (2) those who thought it would not; and (3) those who didn't know — there was little difference in the way the group divided on conscription. Because the views of Quebec on conscription vary from those of other provinces, this province was treated separately in making the breakdowns which follow:

In the first column below the conscription views of those who feel the draft would directly affect some member of their families, are given. In the second column the conscription views of those who feel the draft wouldn't affect their families are given, and in the third column the conscription views of those who are uncertain whether the draft will affect them or not, are shown. The figures exclude Quebec.

NEW YORK (CP)—Meet the woman of tomorrow, as introduced by Irene Saltern, Hollywood designer whose job it is to read the future of fashion.

Since she must anticipate style trends some six months in advance in her job of clothing the stars, she is qualified to speak. Here's what she says:

"The woman of tomorrow will dress for comfort, efficiency and beauty. She will be tailored by day, feminine by night. Her day-time suits will make use of two and three-color combinations, surface interest and combination of two different fabrics. Her evening gowns will be softly draped and clinging to the figure."

Miss Saltern already has introduced some innovations in wartime fashion. "One is the 'free-action sleeve,' which consists of a sleeveless coat or jacket worn over a long-sleeved suit or dress of matching fabric. Another is the 'furlough dress,' a revival of the afternoon dress of yore, street length but dressy enough for cocktails, dinner and dancing."

Anticipating a shortage of girdles, she has designed the "optical illusion waistline," a skillful manipulation of fabric which suggests a slim waist without a definitely defined belt or waistline.

With the disappearance of zippers, Miss Saltern predicts a return to decorative hooks, buttons and tied fastenings. She thinks the long dinner suit in sleek black satin will be popular this fall, with evening gown and jacket designed to go together, but sold separately. Says she: "Length and width of fall dresses may be frozen, but the silhouette is not. We will still have beautiful and individual clothes."

Clubwomen's News

Mrs. G. H. Garrard, president, presided at the meeting of the Shawanigan Women's Institute Thursday afternoon. One more quilt was reported complete, making 11 so far this year. A donation was voted toward ice cream for the school picnic. The institute rose tea will be held Saturday at the home of the president. A letter was read from the English Institute to which the Shawanigan branch had sent clothes. The roll call was answered by quotations from notable women and next meeting quotations from notable men will be given. Tea was served by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Williams.

The Centennial Auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society met in the church parlors Monday. The subject for prayer and study was "Temperance." The devotion was conducted by Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Pimlot and Mrs. McLennan. Mrs. Hopkins, temperance secretary, in giving her report, quoted a resolution passed by the Manitoba conference of the United Church, referring to the unwillingness of the federal government to deal with the liquor curtailment. She also quoted from Dr. George A. Little's address given in Metropolitan Church in May, assailing B.C. and Ontario governments for sanctioning beverage rooms for women. Mrs. Margaret Wilkinson spoke on "Canadians of Tomorrow." A hospital visiting committee for June was appointed, consisting of Mrs. McLennan, Mrs. Couch, Mrs. Peat and Mrs. Wilson.

Emma Kaufman Will Be Y.W.C.A. Guest

Miss Emma Kaufman, for many years general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. at Tokio, Japan, now a volunteer worker with the National "Y" in eastern Canada, will arrive in Victoria June 19 to spend the week-end in conference with local Y.W.C.A. officials and workers. She will address the board meeting here the afternoon of her arrival.

Reference to her forthcoming visit was made at the meeting of the Travelers' Aid and Social Work Committee Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. V. Hamilton, convener, presided.

Reporting for the rooms-registry sub-committee, Miss Winifred Graham said that during May there had been 124 applications for light housekeeping rooms or other accommodation; 45 of these were from civilians, seven of the applicants having children; 48 were referred from one of the three services. The great problem still was to find rooms or apartments where children would be taken. The past month had been a record in this respect.

Families assisted through the rooms registry department since the beginning of the year included 87 connected with the army, 95 from the navy and 87 air force.

Miss Isobel Russell, travelers' aid secretary, also gave a report which touched on some of the social problems which must be met.

Emma Kaufman Will Be Y.W.C.A. Guest

Miss Emma Kaufman, for many years general secretary of the Y.W.C.A. at Tokio, Japan, now a volunteer worker with the National "Y" in eastern Canada, will arrive in Victoria June 19 to spend the week-end in conference with local Y.W.C.A. officials and workers. She will address the board meeting here the afternoon of her arrival.

Reference to her forthcoming visit was made at the meeting of the Travelers' Aid and Social Work Committee Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. A. V. Hamilton, convener, presided.

Reporting for the rooms-registry sub-committee, Miss Winifred Graham said that during May there had been 124 applications for light housekeeping rooms or other accommodation; 45 of these were from civilians, seven of the applicants having children; 48 were referred from one of the three services. The great problem still was to find rooms or apartments where children would be taken. The past month had been a record in this respect.

Families assisted through the rooms registry department since the beginning of the year included 87 connected with the army, 95 from the navy and 87 air force.

Sees Real Train for First Time at 73

VANCOUVER — "It's simply too marvelous for words." So gasped 73-year-old Miss Fawcett of Victoria, after she'd been conducted through a C.P.R. transcontinental train here Tuesday. It was the first time she had seen "a real train."

When she boarded the train "Aunt Annie"—that's what her friends call her—gasped for a moment. Then, curious to see what wonders lay beyond, she bustled on.

The plush, blue seats in the air-conditioned cars were a great temptation. "They're comfortable enough to sit in for days," she approved after testing them.

The brightness of the compact dining car dazzled her and the small, modern kitchen intrigued her.

"Just like a ship's galley," she said to the chief.

After sipping a cup of coffee, Aunt Annie and guides resumed the tour through the compartment car, the Pullmans and the observation car.

"Now I want to take a trip on one," she said after her inspection.

That, Mr. Sigmundson said, would provide a 30-minute service in rush hours and one hour service during off-peak.

Arrangements were also made to have Oak Bay buses leave the city via Pandora Avenue although they would come in on the present route, Fort Street to Yates and thence to Douglas before proceeding out by Pandora.

Crabtree Sees Great Changes

TORONTO (CP)—

Canadians must adjust their minds, habits and personal requirements to great and far-reaching changes and "get on with our work," said Harold Crabtree of Montreal in his presidential address at the 71st annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association opening here today.

Because of those impending changes Canadians will scarcely recognize their country a year from now, the president told the manufacturers from all parts of the Dominion, meeting to discuss vital problems of war production, manpower, priorities, manufacturing, shipping and price controls.

"What is needed," Mr. Crabtree said, "is for this nation to determine, as quickly as possible, the numbers of men and women who can serve to the best advantage of the country in the combatant services, in the auxiliary services, in production, in distribution and in other departments of national activity; to endeavor to see that all are in their proper places where they can do their best; to induce them to stay in such occupation and, thus, to save the waste of unnecessary moving about; in brief, to utilize the abilities of all in the best possible way for the single purpose of helping to the utmost limits of our capacity to defeat the enemy, to achieve victory and to bring this dreadful conflict to a conclusion in the shortest possible time."

EMPLOYEE RELATIONS
During the last year relations between employers and employees improved and Canadian industrial workers had contributed much in ideas and suggestions to speed and improve processes, Mr. Crabtree said that most of Canada's industrial relations troubles had been reflections of similar troubles in the United States where Japan's treacherous attack had brought home the fact that the crisis of a world war was too serious a time to indulge in domestic disputes.

In speaking of possible post-war conditions, Mr. Crabtree expressed the belief that it is inevitable that the war will be followed by economic depression. "There is a new factor in this war, the extraordinary development of science and industry," he stated. "Capacity of production has been expanded in a manner unknown in previous times. Scientific production is now available to repair damage more quickly and effectively than in the past. Mechanical skill, which has reached its highest point in the world's history, will not disappear after the war. It will be at its zenith, but the problem will be how to use it intelligently and swiftly to rebuild the world."

WHEN PEACE COMES
"The skills and inventions which are the offspring of this war can be adapted to peace," said Mr. Crabtree. "If that is done, many of the evil effects of the conflict may be averted. New fields of activity can be found and used to advantage. Additional wants will come with better standards of living and new forms, or extension of old forms, of production will be required to supply them. Production is the chief insurance against unemployment, and full employment prevents or cures most economic social ills."

Calling on Canadians for a still greater and more intensive war effort, Mr. Crabtree contrasted conditions in Britain, China and Russia with those in North America. Industry in Britain, China and Russia was in the front line, subject to constant attack, yet

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE
QUICKLY RELIEVED
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores, 27 May Street, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally in a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your doctor will gladly return your money.

working long hours under the most adverse conditions. The people were face to face with the realities of modern warfare. In America, reality had not been revealed and imaginations had not been stirred sufficiently to galvanize the whole continent into furious endeavor.

Southern Romance At York Theatre

What happens when a young Southerner falls in love with a carnival dancer before he even knows her name, forms the engaging basis of Anna Neagle's new musical romance, "Sunny," coming to the York Theatre tomorrow.

The two meet in the midst of a gay, costumed crowd during New Orleans' famed Mardi Gras celebration, and their attraction flames into love almost instantaneously. But the young man's family, the girl's shyness and the well-meant actions of the other carnival people all combine to interfere with the affair and to provide the often hilarious complications of the story.

The colorful New Orleans settings, four of the catchy Jerome Kern melodies, the original stage success, including the memorable "Who?", and seven sparkling dance routines are said to make "Sunny" the gayest offering of the year.

Barbara Stanwyck In Night Club Role
Barbara Stanwyck, the girl who danced her way to film fame and who has remained on top through her brilliant acting ability, has the title role of a night club singer in "Ball of Fire," Samuel Goldwyn's new romantic comedy, coming tomorrow to the Atlas Theatre.

Gary Cooper is co-starred with her in the gay film as a professor of English who is intrigued by her command of slang and brings her home to study her store of underworld idioms.

Dana Andrews, Oscar Homolka, Allen Jenkins, Tully Marshall, S. Z. Sakall and other noted players are also cast, under direction of Howard Hawks.

DOMINION THEATRE
One of the most exciting rough-and-tumble gang fights ever screened, leads up to the surprise climax of R.K.O. Radio's "The Mayor of 44th Street," now being shown at the Dominion Theatre, a gangland thriller with Freddy Martin's sweet swing providing the musical setting.

With a score of individual grudge battles raging around them, George Murphy and Richard Barthelmess vent their well-nourished hate in a furious encounter.

When it was all over Director Alfred Green patted the principals on the back. "I've directed a lot of fights in my time," said Green, "but this one tops them all. I wouldn't want to meet either of you boys in a dark alley."

New Outdoor Club Has Holiday Outing
Seated on the summit of Mt. Maxwell, members of the recently-formed Outdoor Club who attended the week-end outing to Salt Spring Island, discussed plans for the summer program.

The group included Mr. Tom Goodlake, club chairman; Miss Elizabeth Thorneycroft, leader of the outing; Miss Joan Hall, Miss Hope Hodges and Mr. Bert Sanders.

Leaving Victoria early Saturday afternoon the hikers spent that night at the Blue Gate camp, from which they started early next morning for the summit of Mt. Maxwell, which they made in time for lunch. The party returned to Victoria Sunday night, bringing a number of news items for inclusion in the next issue of the society's official magazine, the Ground Sheet, the newsy first edition of which recently went into circulation.

Further outings for the season include an evening canoe trip Friday, June 19, to the home of Miss Thorneycroft, Portage Inlet, and an expedition to Todd Mountain the week-end of June 20.

Don't be the missing man.

CRABTREE SEES GREAT CHANGES
TORONTO (CP)—Canadians must adjust their minds, habits and personal requirements to great and far-reaching changes and "get on with our work," said Harold Crabtree of Montreal in his presidential address at the 71st annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association opening here today.

Because of those impending changes Canadians will scarcely recognize their country a year from now, the president told the manufacturers from all parts of the Dominion, meeting to discuss vital problems of war production, manpower, priorities, manufacturing, shipping and price controls.

"What is needed," Mr. Crabtree said, "is for this nation to determine, as quickly as possible, the numbers of men and women who can serve to the best advantage of the country in the combatant services, in the auxiliary services, in production, in distribution and in other departments of national activity; to endeavor to see that all are in their proper places where they can do their best; to induce them to stay in such occupation and, thus, to save the waste of unnecessary moving about; in brief, to utilize the abilities of all in the best possible way for the single purpose of helping to the utmost limits of our capacity to defeat the enemy, to achieve victory and to bring this dreadful conflict to a conclusion in the shortest possible time."

EMPLOYEE RELATIONS
During the last year relations between employers and employees improved and Canadian industrial workers had contributed much in ideas and suggestions to speed and improve processes, Mr. Crabtree said that most of Canada's industrial relations troubles had been reflections of similar troubles in the United States where Japan's treacherous attack had brought home the fact that the crisis of a world war was too serious a time to indulge in domestic disputes.

In speaking of possible post-war conditions, Mr. Crabtree expressed the belief that it is inevitable that the war will be followed by economic depression. "There is a new factor in this war, the extraordinary development of science and industry," he stated. "Capacity of production has been expanded in a manner unknown in previous times. Scientific production is now available to repair damage more quickly and effectively than in the past. Mechanical skill, which has reached its highest point in the world's history, will not disappear after the war. It will be at its zenith, but the problem will be how to use it intelligently and swiftly to rebuild the world."

WHEN PEACE COMES
"The skills and inventions which are the offspring of this war can be adapted to peace," said Mr. Crabtree. "If that is done, many of the evil effects of the conflict may be averted. New fields of activity can be found and used to advantage. Additional wants will come with better standards of living and new forms, or extension of old forms, of production will be required to supply them. Production is the chief insurance against unemployment, and full employment prevents or cures most economic social ills."

Calling on Canadians for a still greater and more intensive war effort, Mr. Crabtree contrasted conditions in Britain, China and Russia with those in North America. Industry in Britain, China and Russia was in the front line, subject to constant attack, yet

QUICKLY RELIEVED
If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores, 27 May Street, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally in a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your doctor will gladly return your money.

Record Volume Rail Traffic Handled Easily

TORONTO — "Although the Canadian railways are moving the largest volume of traffic in their history, they can handle more freight business without difficulty." This statement was made by R. C. Vaughan, president of Canadian National Railways, who is here to attend business meetings of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and Canadian Chambers of Commerce.

Using the yardstick of the Canadian National increase in business, Mr. Vaughan states the general increase in volume of business now being handled is approximately 20 per cent more than that in the peak year of 1928, and more than 75 per cent greater than that handled by the railways during the peak year of the last World War.

"Not only can we take more traffic and move it quickly and efficiently today," he added, "but we can do it with proportionately less expense than we did in 1928."

Mr. Vaughan pointed out that never before had the railways moved so effectively organized to move large volumes of traffic. "We are doing a tremendous thing as Canada's biggest war industry," he said, "and we are geared to the highest of speed."

He added that heavier motive power has made it possible to operate fast through freight trains, and to increase the size of the loads carried. In 1918 a long freight train was between 50 and 60 cars. In this war trains frequently begin at 60 cars and run as high as 90 loaded cars, or more, and there has been no evidence whatever of congestion in operations to the seaboard. Passenger traffic, Mr. Vaughan stated, was proportionately heavy.

Mr. Vaughan said that new locomotives were on order, as well as several thousand freight cars. He paid tribute to the war effort of the Canadian manufacturer, and stated that Canada's war production was magnificent.

Apple Subsidy For Okanagan Set at $1,265,900

OTTAWA (CP)—To help apple growers in the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia to market their 1942 crop, following loss of markets and other restrictions resulting from the war, provision for a maximum of $1,265,900 in assistance to growers has been authorized by order-in-council, it was announced today in an extra edition of the Canada Gazette.

The order-in-council approves under authority of the War Measures Act, an agreement between the British Columbia Fruit Board and the Minister of Agriculture designed to safeguard growers in part "against losses which otherwise seem inevitable."

Similar agreements were approved in October, 1939, September, 1940, and June, 1941.

MAY NOT USE ALL
A spokesman for the agricultural department said the $1,265,900 does not necessarily represent the amount which actually will be spent on assistance to the apple growers.

Under the agreement the agricultural minister agrees to assist in marketing a maximum of 4,750,000 boxes of apples "less any quantity sold by the board outside Canada."

The minister will pay the board

"the sum or amount by which the F.O.B. value of all sales by the board in Canada for fresh consumption at prices authorized by the minister totals less than an average of $1.25 per box of wrapped pack and $1.15 per box of unwrapped pack for a total quantity of 4,500,000 boxes less than any quantity sold by the board outside of Canada, and the sum or amount by which the F.O.B. value of any additional sales not exceeding 250,000 boxes totals less than an average of $1 per box."

The minister further agrees to purchase from the board "up to 2,240,000 pounds of choice quality evaporated apples, 22 per cent moisture, resupplied, packed for export, at 11 cents per pound F.O.B. shipping point."

Under the order-in-council, the board is authorized to make a working arrangement of 18 shifts per week, at the same time making it possible for the men to have the Sunday week-end as their day off. The last shift in the week will finish Saturday at 4:30 p.m., with the first shift in the ensuing week starting at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

"This will mean an actual breathing space of 24 hours between each week's operations, as compared with a stoppage of 43½ hours in our original agreement."

There was still no comment from government or shipyard officials here on developments.

The conference appealed to all shipyard workers to maintain the continuous production plan until a substitute is put into operation.

Discussion on the preliminary resolution had occupied most of the time of the House since it resumed after the Easter recess April 20 with operations of a number of government departments under review.

Conservative House Leader Hanson and J. Francois Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que., during Tuesday night's discussion, urged development of highways as a means of assisting Canadian defence.

J. Leonard O'Brien, Conservative, Northumberland, N.B., said he believed the Germans had exact knowledge of the Miramichi River area in New Brunswick, and he believed it a strategic point in the defences of the eastern coast, particularly Halifax.

The Canadian National Railways line crossed two branches of the river over heavy steel bridges and it would not surprise him if it was learned "any morning" that a submarine had come into Miramichi Bay and proceeded to damage or blow up these bridges.

"If that happened," said Mr. O'Brien, "Halifax would eventually starve to death, because the main line of the railway from upper Canada through Halifax to Great Britain would be cut."

Mr. Pouliot said he understood 24,000 orders-in-council had been passed since the war started, and said members should be kept informed on the progress of such legislation. The published booklets containing orders-in-council were not complete and fuller details were needed by members.

24-Hour Pause Union Proposal

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of the joint shipyard-trade union conference which Monday announced it had found the present continuous production schedule in the shipyards "impractical," said today a new plan drafted by the conference calls for a 24-hour pause in the shipyards from 4:30 p.m. Saturdays until 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

The conference, which claims to represent British Columbia's 20,000 shipyard workers, will present the new plan to the government and shipyard operators after affiliated unions have voted on it. Officials claimed it would solve a "crisis" produced by the continuous production program introduced May 4.

The Boilermakers' and Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Unions voted against the continuous production plan under which shifts were staggered to keep yards busy on week-ends without payment of overtime. Executives of eight other unions approved the plan.

In a statement, Lawrence Anderson, secretary of the joint shipyard-trade conference, claimed that the continuous production plan had never been fully operative at Prince Rupert or Victoria; that "auxiliary industries" are not yet prepared to meet the needs of continuous production and that the plan was "too sweeping an innovation."

He said that a Victoria shipyard "has appealed to Ottawa to be released from the plan."

Under the present plan, Anderson said 21 shifts worked per week, as compared with 15½ shifts before the plan was put into operation.

"We propose at this time a working arrangement of 18 shifts per week, at the same time making it possible for the men to have the Sunday week-end as their day off. The last shift in the week will finish Saturday at 4:30 p.m., with the first shift in the ensuing week starting at 4:30 p.m. Sunday."

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Unsettled by a steep fall in American Telephone the stock market posted declines over a wide front today. Losses were moderate in the general run of leaders. Telephone came back a little after an early drop of 4 points or so. Air Reduction, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Bethlehem Steel and Philip Morris were down a point or more at the worst. Fractional declines were widely distributed in the final hour.

The weakness of American Telephone was attributed to selling inspired by an announcement that Western Electric Co. had reduced its dividend to 25 cents from 30 cents in the March quarter and 75 cents in June last year. Telephone owns practically all the stock.

Among Canadian stocks McIntyre Mines lost one point, Dome Mines ½ and Lake Shore ¼.

Dorothy Dix: International Marriages Seldom Insure Happiness

Dear Miss Dix: I am a man 20 years of age. Fine family with high ideals. Have a college degree and good business opportunity awaiting me after the war. I am in love with a nice girl. Intelligent. Good character. Divorced parents. We are of different nationalities and religions. Her mother, however, does not have our code of ethics.

If we should marry, what would be our chances of our marriage turning out happily?

JACQUES.
Answer: Practically nil. Too many difficulties in the way. Of course, matrimonial miracles do happen occasionally and now and then a marriage that seemed fore-ordained for failure is successful. But, as I need not warn you, miracles are as rare as hen's teeth. A man's guardian angel seldom intervenes to save him from the consequences of making an unsuitable marriage. It leaves him to reap the results of his folly.

When a boy and girl are in love they think that nothing matters in marriage except love, but that is not true. There are a thousand things besides a husband's and wife's affection for each other that make or mar their marriage, and that in actuality determine whether their love will last or not. And you and your girl differ on so many points that it would seem to be almost an impossibility for you ever to live together in peace and harmony.

There is nationality, to begin with, inbred characteristics, different habits and customs and points of view that are just as much a part of you as the color of your eyes and your complexion. Very few international marriages are happy because it is hard for two people who have been used to different ways of thinking and cooking and eating and doing things to adjust themselves to each other. Little as you think it now, even so small a thing as whether one likes onions and garlic in the salad or not can be provocative of a daily spat.

Then, in your case, there is religion, which is good for a war in any family in which the husband holds to one creed and the wife to another. Finally, again in your case, there is the barrier of social caste between you and the girl. You belong to a good family, proud of its standing in its community. Her mother is not law-abiding. It is no use in your saying that you are marrying the girl, not her family. No man does that. When a man marries a girl he becomes one of her family. You can't separate the girl from her mother. Her mother's blood will run in your children's veins. Her mother's reputation and occupation will be a shadow on them. You can no more blot out the girl's family than she can yours.

So, taking it all in all, there is not much chance of such an unequal marriage being a happy one.

MONEY MORE FLEETING THAN LOVE

Dear Miss Dix: At one time my family was very wealthy, but we lost our fortune and now barely make a living. Since I was a child my mother has done nothing but talk to me about marrying a rich man who can help the family. She has made me feel that it was my duty to do so, and she is very much incensed with me because I have fallen in love with a poor man and want to marry him.

This constant nagging about getting a rich husband is getting on my nerves and makes me very depressed. Should I break my engagement to the fine, poor boy I love and wait until some rich man comes along who wants to marry me?

MARY.

Answer: Don't think of such a foolish thing! In the first place, millionaires who want to marry poor girls and support their families are few and far between, and your chance of getting one is about equal to your chance of drawing a prize in the sweepstakes. And anyway, the girl who sells herself in marriage makes a poor bargain. No matter what she fetches, she is never happy because she lacks the one thing that makes marriage worthwhile, and that is love.

It is easy to see why mothers, who have known the hardships of poverty, should urge their daughters to marry for money and tell them that love doesn't last, but a bank account does. But this is not true. Money is even more fleeting than love, and many a girl who has let mother's preaching overrule her heart and has married the rich old widower mother-picked out for her, instead of the poor boy she loved, has seen the rich old husband lose his fortune and has been left bankrupt in both money and love.

WORRIED BY THREE YEARS

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am 20 years old, contemplating marrying a girl three years older than I am, but I am worrying if some day she won't begin to look old to me, making me want a younger companion. What about it?

Answer: It is a hunch, son. Take it. For if even before you marry a girl you are speculating about whether you will get tired of her some years hence, it is a sure thing that you are not enough in love with her to marry her.

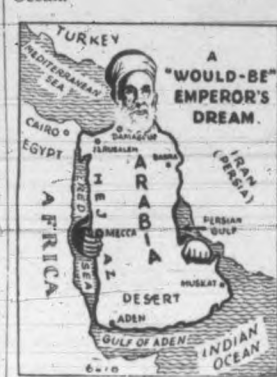

Anyway, at 20 you are too young to tie yourself up for keeps. Stay free for a few years and look 'em all over.

King Hussein Dreamed Of Huge Arabian Empire

About 20 years ago, a king by the name of Hussein caused a postal card to be printed with a picture of himself on it. Many rulers have been glad to place their pictures before the world, but there was something special about this one.

The bearded face of Hussein was shown with a map of Arabia below it. The picture was drawn in such a way that the Red Sea seemed to make one of the king's arms, and the Persian Gulf the other. A house of a sort was supplied by the map of Arabia, from Damascus down to the Indian Ocean.

Map with portrait of Hussein

The picture card was meant to lead people to think there should be a single great Arabian empire, all of it under the power of Hussein.

Hussein was born in 1856, and was 60 years old when he became the king of Hejaz. This country is on the western side of Arabia, and its area is about 150,000 square miles. It lies along the shore of the Red Sea.

The population of Hejaz is close to 1,500,000, and its leading cities are Mecca and Medina. Both these cities are looked upon as holy by the Arabs.

Mecca is the place where Mohammed was born. Millions of Moslems turn their faces toward Mecca when they pray. This is done even by Moslems who live at a distance of thousands of miles.

Medina is the city where Mohammed spent the later years of his life. It now contains about 15,000 persons.

King Hussein took steps to build the empire of which he dreamed. One of his sons was made king of Iraq (also spelled "Iraq"). Another son, for a time, ruled the stretch of land, east of Palestine, known as Transjordan.

At length, Hussein's power crumbled. He lost a battle with Arabs who favored a leader named Ibn Saud. Feeling that he had grown too old to handle affairs, he gave up his throne and went to the British island of Cyprus to spend the last five years of his life. He died in 1931.

A son of Hussein took the throne which his father had left, but the son's reign lasted only a year. Ibn Saud had kept on gaining power. He took control of Hejaz, and made Mecca his capital.

With other land which he had ruled before, King Ibn Saud now had power over most of Arabia. His empire is known as "Saudi Arabia," and its area is given as 800,000 square miles.

Nationalism Blamed For World Disorder

An exaggerated feeling of nationalism and the resulting selfishness has resulted in the present strife of the world, Dean H. T. J. Coleman told the Kiwanis Club Tuesday, speaking on the subject, "Jonahs: Ancient and Modern."

Speaking on the early stages of nationalism, Dean Coleman referred to the early suppression of the Jews and how this led to narrow-mindedness. Racial theories, including the Nordic, or German theory, and that of the Japanese, who believe that they are on earth to be the leaders of mankind, were dealt with.

"There are no superior races," Mr. Coleman said.

More People Now Studying Music

"Quite definitely there are more people in Canada today studying music than at any time since the first Great War," says Cyril Hampshire, examiner for the Toronto Conservatory of Music, who arrived in Victoria Tuesday to begin his three-day examination work here.

Mr. Hampshire amplified his comment by stating that there was an increasingly more serious attitude toward music throughout the Dominion. More older people had taken up the study and good music was much more popular. An indication of the widespread interest in music study was shown in the unusual demand for pianos. Piano dealers had no difficulty whatever in disposing of their stocks.

Toronto Conservatory has more pupils here than ever before.

Before his departure Thursday evening Mr. Hampshire, who is staying at the Dominion Hotel, will be the guest of honor at a joint reception to be held by the Victoria Music Teachers' Association and the Victoria Branch of the Toronto Conservatory Alumni. The affair will take place at the Y.W.C.A., when the presidents of the two host societies, Miss Ethel James and Miss Gwen-doline Harper, will receive. Miss James will introduce Mr. Hampshire, who will give a short talk on matters of musical interest.

C.G.I.T. Notes

The Vancouver council extended an invitation to any Victoria leaders to attend a similar retreat in the fall. Miss Marion Stevenson, Mrs. W. Holmes and Miss Irene Pearce were asked to form a nominating committee to draw up the slate of officers for the next term, commencing in September. Books which can be used for personal devotions, both by the girl and the leader, were passed around by Miss Pearl Willocks. She also mentioned others that would be helpful in preparing worship services. Mrs. W. Holmes gave suggestions for meetings that could be held during the summer months, including various kinds of hikes and a stay-at-home camp. Pictures for the camp photography contest were handed in. The meeting was closed with the reading of poems by Miss Jean Wilson.

Rural Teachers Oppose New Teaching Standards

Rural Teachers' Association, a section of B.C. Teachers' Federation, is "definitely opposed to the present policy of lowering standards in teacher training and in educational efficiency to correct a bad situation that it is utterly impossible to correct by such devices," says a statement issued today by the rural teachers through Dr. J. M. Thomas, principal of Saanich's Mount View High School, a member of their executive.

"Rural Teachers' Association stands for a reasonable provincial schedule of salaries for teachers with increments paid by the province and an end to special unearned privilege to any group of teachers," says the statement.

"As a people we are sacrificing the democratic future of Canada by the too-low standards of education in all provinces and this includes British Columbia. In ratio of effort or expenditure on education to ability to pay, British Columbia ranks lowest among all the provinces of Canada. The R.T.A. insists that the larger part, if not all, of the educational costs should and could be borne by the province, to provide an equitable distribution of cost and opportunity."

The statement says the association has foreseen the present situation "and has been endeavoring in all ways possible to prevent it from developing—unattractive conditions relative to teaching have been given publicity—but no corrective action has been taken and now we find ourselves in a very acute stage of a chronic condition."

"In 1941 the government of B.C. was asked to raise the minimum salary of teachers from $15 a week to $17 a week. The government refused. The government was asked to guarantee two or three annual increments, for satisfactory service, of $5 a month. The government refused. The government has been asked to pay a bonus to low-salaried teachers. The government refused. More recently the government agreed to pay a bonus to civil servants receiving less than $2,100 a year. The majority of teachers in B.C. receive much less than that amount in salary."

"This is a sample of conditions that repel ability and attract an inadequate supply of mediocrity—except those in Vancouver and in a few other urban municipalities—but it is also the conditions inherent in an archaic administrative and financial system of education that finally break the spirit of the better type of teacher and repels prospective entrants of high calibre.

SACRIFICE

"A recent B.C. newspaper editorial expressed the opinion 'we cannot afford to sacrifice the educational future of our younger generation, for whose sake, mostly, it is that we are fighting this war.' But that is what the government of British Columbia is doing. It is the B.C. Teachers' Federation, the Provincial Trustees' Association, the Provincial Parent-Teachers' Association, service clubs and all democratic, liberty-loving organizations and people took cognizance of the situation and made effective protest against the sacrifice."

The Rural Teachers' Association gives its stand on educational policy as follows:

1. Education is the final bulwark and ultimate hope for democracy. We insist that maintaining high standards of educational service is a primary national service in peacetime and in wartime.

2. Education should be administered on a democratic basis; equality of opportunity and an equitable distribution of the costs. A democracy is in a very dangerous state where these conditions do not exist, and they are far from being maintained in any province of Canada, and, according to ability to pay, least of all in the province of British Columbia.

3. All resources of all the province should be the financial backing for the education of all the children of the province. As education is at present administered and financed in British Columbia some areas are specially privileged both as to ability to pay and as to educational opportunity provided.

4. In the educational system the classroom teacher is the vital factor. Teaching conditions should be such as to attract and hold men and women of high ability and, still more important, of strong personality. These conditions do not prevail in B.C. Within the ranks of the profession itself there should not be a specially privileged group. Teachers in district municipalities and in rural districts are entitled to equality of status and economic reward with those of urban municipalities. The demands upon the teachers of nonurban municipalities and districts and their responsibilities are greater than the demand upon and responsibilities of urban teachers.

Highway Toll Falls As Speed Limit Cut

Canadian Press

Enforcement of Canada's 40-miles-an-hour speed limit on highways—introduced as a means of gasoline and rubber conservation—had the gratifying effect in May, its first month of operation, of resulting in a further decrease in the Dominion's accident and accidental fatality rate.

The decrease followed a similar drop noted the month before after the introduction of gasoline rationing and restrictions on tire sales. Taking all these factors into consideration—factors which also have resulted in a sharp decrease in the number of cars on the highways—Canadian motorists appeared to be heading for their lowest annual accident rate since the automobile left the luxury class.

Basis for comparisons are figures gathered through the Dominion by the Canadian Press—figures which, with one exception showed a continuing decrease in mishaps which mar the nation's travel on highways.

B.C. EXCEPTION

Only upward trend in the nationwide picture was noted in British Columbia, where an unexplained jump put last month's accidents unofficially at 600, compared with only 349 the previous month. The same proportions pertained in 1941, when May's total of 612 accidents compared unfavorably with 337 in April of that year.

Other provinces from which figures were available, however, showed a definite decrease in the highways' accident toll.

There were only 222 accidents on Ontario's heavily-traveled highways in May, compared with 284 in April and 735 in May, 1941. Sixteen deaths last month compared with 45 in May, 1941, and 30 in April. Incomplete figures from Quebec for last month revealed only 446 accidents and nine deaths compared with 1,798 mishaps and 36 deaths in the same month of the previous year and 515 accidents last April and 13 deaths.

Official figures from Alberta showed a like decrease, 38 accidents and one death last month comparing with 99 accidents and 11 fatalities in May, 1941, and 94 mishaps and three deaths in April this year.

Unofficial Saskatchewan statistics told the same story, and while last month's figures were unobtainable from Manitoba and Nova Scotia, officials in each province said the reduced speed limit would cause an accident decline.

M. A. Lyons, Manitoba highway commissioner, said he believes the 40-mile limit "definitely" will cut down traffic accidents.

In Saskatchewan unofficial figures for last month revealed 72 accidents and four deaths, compared with 108 mishaps and three fatalities the previous month and 142 accidents and four deaths in May, 1941.

Prince Edward Island figures for May were unavailable.

British Columbia traffic officials at Victoria said they couldn't account for the big jumps in accident figures in May of the last two years compared with April statistics of the same years.

The death toll in B.C. last month showed an increase to 14 from eight in May, 1941, and nine in April this year. Six of last month's deaths, however, were accounted for in one mishap at Penticton when a car skidded off a flooded highway into the river.

VICTORIA CADETS TO SUMMER CAMPS

For the first time in 15 years, Victoria and district school cadets, approximately 330 strong, will take summer training at camps in British Columbia and Alberta, starting on June 12, the courses extending in one, two and three weeks' periods until August 1.

Most of the 200 members of the Air Cadet League in Victoria will go to Alberta for a week's training with No. 3 Service Flying Training School R.C.A.F., and the No. 37 Service Flying Training School R.A., July 11 to July 18.

To attend the camps the boys must be 15 years old and receive the consent of their parents.

Air Cadet groups will be under R.C.A.F. warrant officers and teacher-instructors will travel with them; all transportation and meals being provided by the government.

About 200 of the 1,500 army cadets in Victoria and district schools will attend camp at Healy's range, July 12 to July 19. Other groups from other parts of B.C. will undergo training at Duncan from July 6 to July 11, and July 13 to July 18. They will live in self-contained camps under canvas.

Military cadet instructors will attend special three-week courses from July 13 to Aug. 1, some taking a refresher course from Aug. 3 to Aug. 22.
